McADOO'S UNIT-RULED DELEGATIONS UNDER ATTACK

His Opponents Work on Missouri, Iowa and Louisiana Where Unwilling Ones Are Bound to Him.

CALIFORNIAN HAS LOST SOME GROUND

Platform Problems Have Been Reduced to Those Over Prohibition, Ku Klux Klan and League.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 23.—Flushed with the expectation of victory in the Democratic national convention opening here tomorrow, the anti-McAdoo forces today are concentrating their attention on the delegations which have been chained to the McAdoo chariot by the unit rule. Every effort is being made to break the bonds by which a considerable number of unwilling delegates—such as some in the Missouri contingent—are being held in the McAdoo procession.

Three delegations in particular are being worked upon. One is the Missouri crowd—a fact which restores to Missouri the limelight that it enjoyed in 1920—and the others are the delegates from Iowa and Louisiana.

The hope that the Missouri unit rule might be cracked was increased by the word spread through the hotel corridors that the delegation of this state was shocked full of sentiment for John W. Davis.

Iowa and Louisiana. Conflicting reports came from the Iowans. Thick-and-thin McAdoo workers in this outfit predicted that the delegation would stick to the last, while others said he would be lucky if he held the delegation solidly behind him for more than two ballots. It was even said that he might not get the full delegation on any ballot. Certain it is that the McAdoo people control in Iowa by only a slender margin and will have great difficulty in keeping the opposition under leash during protracted balloting.

DEFINITE STAND FOR THE LEAGUE SOUGHT BY FORCES OPPOSING McADOO

They Would Make Baker Head of Resolutions Committee and Corruption Outstanding Issue.

DECLARATION AGAINST KLAN ALSO FAVORED

Former Justice Clarke to Submit League Plank—Bryan Has Draft of Anti-War Resolution.

By GEORGE F. AUTHIER, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
NEW YORK, June 23.—Anti-McAdoo forces among the delegates to the Democratic National Convention have taken the initiative in an attempt to harmonize the platform with the candidate by getting back of Newton D. Baker of Ohio, former Secretary of War, as chairman of the Resolutions Committee.

This move has in mind the writing of a platform that will voice the resentment of the Democratic party against the naval oil reserve bill and the prevention of the nomination of a candidate to stand on such a platform whose record might not be entirely safe. It purposes also to write into the platform a distinct declaration for the League of Nations and against the Ku Klux Klan.

Everywhere among the various delegations arriving in New York is a recognition of the wisdom of making the outstanding feature of the platform a denunciation of corruption in government and a demand that the Government be put in clean hands.

Anti-McAdoo forces take the position that the force of such a declaration would be vitiated by the nomination of a candidate who had ever been on the payroll of Edward L. Doheny.

The various developments in the approaching platform struggle in the last 24 hours follow: Movement to make Newton D. Baker chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, calling for a clean record in the nomination of the Ku Klux Klan issue.

FARRIS PROPOSES COMPROMISE ON THE UNIT RULE

Would Make It Applicable in Missouri Delegation Only to Vote on Presidential Nomination.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 23.—In an effort to head off a fight on the unit rule in the Missouri delegation today, State Senator Farris, one of the McAdoo leaders, announced a policy of conciliation. Farris proposed that the unit rule be not applied on any of the delegation except that, on the presidential nomination.

Such a plan would permit the St. Louis, Kansas City and other delegates to vote their individual opinions on inclusion of an anti-Ku Klux Klan plank in the platform, on prohibition, and on other matters.

The prediction of anti-McAdoo delegates was that the plan would not be successful. Joseph B. Shannon and Thomas J. Pendergast, Democratic bosses in Kansas City, and John Keegan, a delegate from the Eleventh (St. Louis) district, said they intended to carry on the fight at the caucus and that the unit rule would be adhered to only over their protest.

Shannon to Press Issue. "I know there are very few actual McAdoo votes in the delegation," Shannon said. "We also know that the men who propose to vote the delegation for McAdoo under the unit rule were elected as a result of a campaign which cost money. The delegates are not for McAdoo but they are going to vote for him. Why? I am going to ask them why. Is it because they are under obligations on account of money expended in their behalf?"

"I can't believe the Missouri delegation is prepared to go before the convention and cast a vote which is in effect a purchased vote," Pendergast declared himself on the unit rule in an interview in which he said: "I am opposed to the unit rule. I believe a man should vote as he wishes. They may be able to put it on us and we may have to vote for it, but if we will not be voting our choice."

Pendergast for Smith. "My preference is for Smith. My next choice is Davis. I believe the Ku Klux Klan should be mentioned by name in the platform. I am opposed to the Ku Klux and believe the party should go on record unequivocally. I expect to make a fight for that in the delegation."

Keegan expressed the opinion that a fight on the unit rule at the caucus would be successful, but others who have checked the delegation over carefully are convinced that it will be impossible for the anti-McAdoo delegates to break the rule, at least not until a number of ballots have been taken, ballots on which the unit rule is the only issue.

BRITON COMPELS CHINESE TO HONOR DEAD AMERICAN

Two Leaders of Junkmen's Guild Are Led to Scene of Crime and Executed by Awed Officials.

By the Associated Press.
PEKIN, June 23.—Under threat that he would bombard the city of Wanhien, on the Yangtze River in Szechwan Province, the commander of the British gunboat Cockchafer yesterday compelled the highest military leaders there to walk to the cemetery in full uniform behind the casket containing the body of Edwin C. Hawley, the American killed by Chinese junkmen, and to attend the burial service for him.

After the Chinese leaders had made their compulsory demonstration of respect to the murdered American they carried out the orders of the commander of Cockchafer to arrest the two leading members of the junkmen's guild in Wanhien, convey them to the spot on the beach where Hawley was beaten and execute them by shooting.

U. C. Consul Arrives. United States Consul Clarence J. Spiker reached Wanhien from Chungking last Friday and reported to the United States Legation here in a message which reached it today confirming the death of Hawley, an American, 42 years old, who had been a resident of China for 15 years, on board the Cockchafer.

His report, however, gave no further details of the dispute over shipment of wood and oil by steamers instead of in junks, which had been reported as occasion for the attack which resulted in the death of Hawley, who was a representative of Arnold Bros. & Co., a British concern.

Assurance Given. Consul Spiker said that the military authorities at Wanhien appeared to be thoroughly awed and had given the commander of the Cockchafer and other foreigners assurances that there would be no repetition of the offense.

Rear Admiral Charles R. McVay, commander of the American patrol on Yangtze River, is proceeding to Wanhien in the U. S. S. Isabel, flagship of his river fleet.

Gunboat Cockchafer Is Commanded by Com. Ivan W. Whitehorn. Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, June 23.—Lieutenant-Commander Ivan W. Whitehorn is the commanding officer of the British gunboat Cockchafer, according to the April list of naval vessels on file at the British embassy here. He took charge of the Cockchafer in December, 1923. The gunboat is a small river craft of 645 tons. It carries two 5-inch guns and one 3-inch anti-aircraft gun.

ROBT. C. RUTLEDGE FOUND FATALLY SHOT IN HIS ROOM

Wound of Former Lieutenant-Colonel of 128th Artillery Apparently Accidentally Inflicted by Self.

Robert C. Rutledge, a real estate dealer, who served in France as Lieutenant-Colonel in the One Hundred and Twenty-Eighth (St. Louis) Artillery, was found dead about 9:30 a. m. today, under circumstances which indicated he had accidentally shot himself in his apartment at the Pageant Apartments, 5855 Delmar boulevard.

He had been shot through the abdomen and was lying face downward on the floor beside his bed. On a table at the foot of the bed was his 45-caliber army automatic with one empty shell. Beside it was a bottle of cleaning fluid and a cleaning rod around which was wrapped a bit of cloth.

It appeared he had been sitting on the edge of his bed preparing to clean the weapon when it was discharged. Before he fell to the floor he appeared to have placed or tossed it on the table.

No Response to Knocks. The discovery was made when a maid reported to Edward S. Lewis, proprietor of the apartments, that she was unable to get a response to her knocks on the door of Rutledge's room. She was instructed to let herself in with her pass key and returned and reported that Rutledge was dead.

Rutledge was in his shirt-sleeves but was otherwise fully clothed. The bullet was found in the crown of his head and had passed through his body and had imbedded itself in the wall at the head of his bed.

Wife Granted Divorce. On May 22 last Mrs. Helen D. Rutledge, 5899 Ninth place, obtained a divorce from him on the ground of desertion. They were married in 1901 and separated in February, 1923. Custody of three young children, sons aged 15 and 12, and a daughter aged 9, and alimony of $200 a month were awarded to her. Rutledge did not contest. Another son, Leighton Rutledge, is at Key Largo, Fla.

The three young children visited Rutledge yesterday afternoon and he took them for a drive. They were to have taken a trip to Chicago today and Rutledge's grip was partly packed.

THIRCE MARRIED BUT ONLY TWICE DIVORCED

J. C. Crouch, Lawyer, Weds Second Wife, Despite Loss of Annulment Suit.

Thrice married, but only twice divorced, Joseph C. Crouch, an attorney of 1411 1/2 Market street, gave authorities at Clayton something more to puzzle over by re-marrying his second wife there today. The question is, "who's committed bigamy now?"

Crouch divorced his first wife, Della, in 1916. He then married his second wife, Elizabeth. Last June he was granted a divorce from her by Circuit Judge McElhinney on grounds of general indignities.

Twenty days later he married Mrs. Bertha Eno, who had just obtained a divorce from her husband, William, through Crouch's efforts as her attorney.

From this point the tangle started. It was shown that Eno's name had been forged to papers entering his appearance and he declared that his wife's divorce was illegal.

NEW YORK WORLD DECLARES FOR SMITH FOR PRESIDENCY

"Possibility of Victory and Right of Victory" Depend on Fight Waged by Him, It Says.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 23.—Most of the New York morning newspapers today, deal chiefly with platform problems. The World, however, again vigorously assails the candidacy of William G. McAdoo for the presidential nomination and declares for Gov. Alfred E. Smith as the leader of "the best interests of the Democratic party."

The "possibility of victory and the right of victory," says the World, depends upon the fight being waged by Gov. Smith. The Herald-Tribune describes the League of Nations, the Ku Klux Klan and prohibition to reality in this year of 1924 as Mr. McAdoo's spottless robe of righteous liberalism. The Times finds "much better reasons" for a party declaration in favor of American entrance into the League of Nations than existed in 1920, while the American, calling for a "return to the faith," says "the party must free itself from every taint of booze and boddie."

THREE FACTIONS AMONG DELEGATES ON KLUX ISSUE

Brennan, Moore and New Yorkers Want Democrats to Denounce Hooded Order by Name.

SOUTHERN SENATORS MORE MODERATE

Another Element Would Avoid Any Platform Declaration Offensive to Ku Klux Klan.

By H. E. C. BRYANT.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
NEW YORK, June 21.—The opposing forces in the controversy over the proposed Ku Klux Klan plank in the Democratic platform have taken definite alignment. They are divided into three camps: First, those who would say absolutely nothing about a klansman might construe into a blow at the order; second, those who believe that memories should be refreshed of the religious freedom doctrine of Thomas Jefferson; and third, those who would denounce the Ku Klux by name.

It looks now as if the compromise group would win and the so-called Virginia plank be adopted. Men of the type of Senators Walsh of Montana, Glass and Swanson of Virginia, Simmons of North Carolina and Kendrick of Wyoming favor this course.

The third class, represented by George E. Brennan of Illinois, Edmund H. Moore of Ohio and New York leaders, would be more drastic.

Brennan's Drastic Plank.
Moore has framed a resolution, which he will insist on the convention accepting. If the platform committee turns him down he and Mr. Brennan will take it to the floor of the convention. It reads:

"We condemn, as opposed to the genius of free government, secret political societies of any kind whatever, wherever any such society undertakes to destroy free political action and fosters racial and religious hatreds.

"We denounce their activities as an entangling the spirit, if not the letter, of the Constitution, and as a pregnant menace to the perpetuity of American institutions.

"We declare that no member of such a society can justly claim to be a disciple of Thomas Jefferson.

"We pledge the Democratic party to oppose the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, or any similar organization which undertakes to control the life of a society by free political action or due process of law.

Former Secretary Baker, who is urged for chairman of the Platform Committee, is a little more conservative than Moore. Baker has pronounced views against the inevitable empire and is working for a clear-cut plank that will show plainly that the Democratic party is not in favor of even temporizing with the Ku Klux. Friends of Baker doubt if he would go to the extent of naming the organization in the declaration, but he favors a return to the Jeffersonian doctrine.

Kendrick Would Omit Name.
Senator John B. Kendrick of Wyoming, said he would not call the Klan by name but thinks that the plank on religious freedom should be clear cut.

"We might as well follow the old rule about such things," he said, "and refrain from identifying the order, but we should adopt a careful religious freedom plank."

Senator Harrison of Mississippi refused to talk for publication but said the order never had been active in politics in his state, and is not taken seriously as a political factor there.

Former Representative H. L. Godwin, a North Carolina delegate, said: "We have some Ku Klux Klan members in my section of the state, but they have manifested no special interest in elections. I do not feel that we ought to single them out in the platform. We have laws that will punish them or members of any other organization for crime. These laws should be enforced against them if they become violators. If the Klan wishes to help enforce the law it has that right, but it should do so openly and not behind a religious freedom plank."

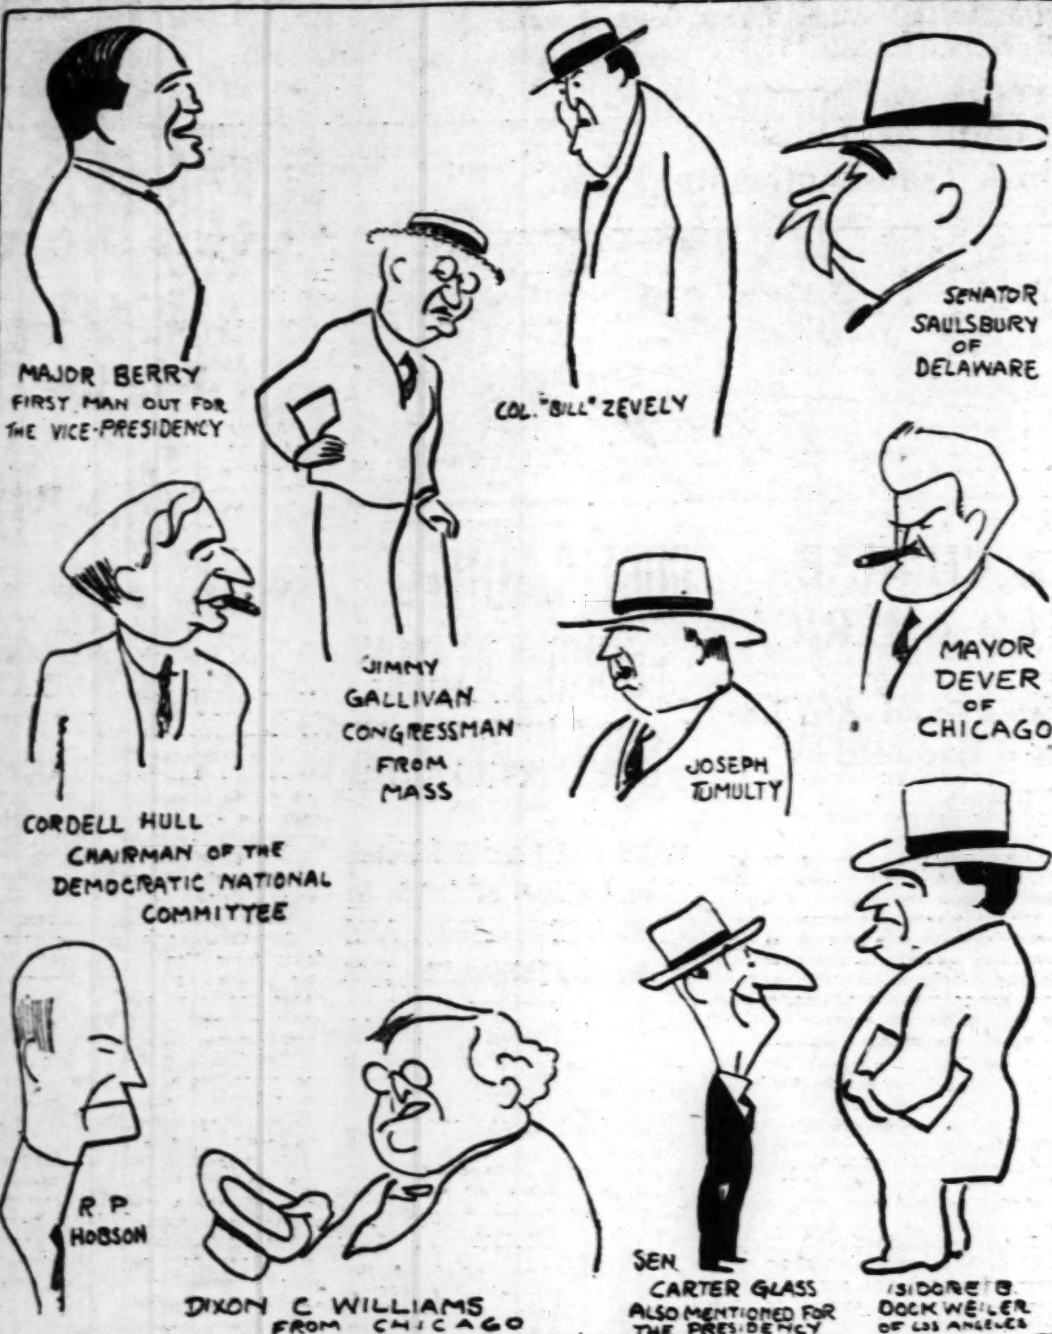

Views of Other Leaders.
Other interviews are: Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana: "I would vote for a very strong, straight religious freedom plank, and think we should adopt one, but would not name the Ku Klux Klan."

John E. Baker, Representative from California: "As to the proposed anti-klans plank, I would stand on the declaration of the Constitution but not use any names."

Senator David Walsh of Massachusetts: "The convention should go on record against the Klan. That would be one way to show its progressive tendency."

Two Groups of Opponents.
Opponents of the Ku Klux Klan plank outnumber those in favor of it, but they are divided into two groups. First, those who would denounce it by name; and

M'ADOO CHARGES NEW YORK PRESS IS TRYING DECEIT

Declares Newspapers Are Making "Clumsy Attempts to Becloud Issue" to Screen Privilege.

"THINK IT EASY TO FOOL DELEGATES"

Reads Manuscript of Prepared Address at Rally to Be Sure of Being Correctly Quoted.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 22.—Assailing the metropolitan press which he declared was making "clumsy attempts to becloud the issue," William G. McAdoo, at a rally of delegates supporting him, last night, asserted that "whenever special privilege is threatened by a popular outburst of public indignation, it sets up a straw-man issue to divert the people's attention from the real problems of the day."

"That deceit," he added, "is being attempted now."

McAdoo prefaced his prepared address with a statement that he felt compelled to read from manuscript "because of the hospitality of the New York newspapers."

Declaring that he had interposed no objection to the selection of New York as the convention city, McAdoo said he had been assured that both delegates and candidates would be treated with hospitality and fairness.

"From some of the things which have been printed here about the forward-looking men and women who make up the progressive Democracy of America," said McAdoo, "it would appear that some editors have the idea that the people who come from the South and West and from smaller cities than New York are easily fooled. They are who they are, but they are not so easily fooled as New York editors because we live in a far-away and smaller place, but we haven't lost the faculty of thinking for ourselves and knowing when we see it the government is false. I am confident that these attempts to becloud the issue and reflect upon the intelligence of the great mass of delegates is quite futile."

Summary of Issues.
McAdoo summed up "the real issues of the 1924 campaign" as follows:

"To rid the Federal Government of special privilege, corruption and graft, and to prosecute all persons, whether civilians or officials, guilty of conspiracy to defraud or cheat the Government."

"To remove the influence of invisible government from the Treasury and the Federal reserve system."

"To repeal the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill, which taxes the common people for the benefit of special interests, and to substitute a tariff bill which will help reduce the cost of living and do justice to all interests."

"To repeal the obnoxious features of the Esch-Cummings railroad act and to set up in its stead a measure for railroad reform which will eliminate waste, reduce transportation costs, cut freight rates and insure the operation of the railroads for the benefit of the country."

"To aid the farmers by establishing lower freight rates and by developing foreign markets which can absorb the surplus agricultural crops."

"To end the era of isolation and begin the era of co-operation in foreign affairs; to promote peace and further reduce the burden of both land and sea armaments to the lowest point compatible with national safety."

Protection of Natural Resources.
"To protect the natural resources of the nation, particularly water power, which must be developed in the interest of the people and not exploited for private advantage."

"To abolish child labor and establish equality of rights, civil, economic and social, for women."

"To practice genuine economy in government and progressively reduce taxes to the lowest basis consistent with efficient government and justice to deserving employees in the public service."

"To vigorously enforce all laws. To say that they cannot be enforced is not only to confess governmental impotence, but failure of democratic institutions."

Addresses Western Delegates.
Progressive democracy will recover the American Government from privilege and debauchery and set it again on the high road of moral standards, McAdoo said today in an address of greeting to delegates from nine Western states, Hawaii and the Philippines, who came across the continent in two special trains.

Facing the cheering delegations from a balcony in front of his hotel, McAdoo said his enemies were spreading the word that after a few ballots his delegates would turn away from him.

There were cries of "No, no,"

Nominating Speeches to Precede Vote on Platform

Tentative Program for Convention Arranged for First Three Days—Delegates to Vote on Time Harrison Shall Sound Keynote.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Recognizing the probability of prolonged sessions, the Democratic National Convention managers have only arranged a tentative program for the first three days. These arrangements will carry the convention past the adoption of the platform and to the beginning of the nominations for President. After that the program will be dictated by the events.

In order to give the platform committee plenty of time for its work, the plan is to hear the nominating speeches for President; then to adopt the platform, and then proceed to the balloting for nominations. This plan was followed in San Francisco four years ago.

The tentative program for the first three days is as follows:

First Day.
Convention called to order by Chairman Hull.

Invocation by Cardinal Hayes. Official photograph. Brief address by Chairman Hull. Reading of the official call for the convention.

Recommendations for temporary officers and their election. A committee will escort Senator Harrison, temporary chairman, to the platform.

At this point, Chairman Hull expects to ask the convention whether it desires Senator Harrison to deliver his address or take a recess until night.

Should the address be postponed, Chairman Hull expects the convention to proceed with organization by the adoption of rules and the reference of resolutions to the committee on platform and resolutions. Should the convention last night, the speech being delivered immediately, the organization will follow the speech.

Adoption of a resolution providing for the organization of committees on resolutions, credentials, permanent organization, rules and order of business, to notify nominees for President, to notify nominees for Vice President and statement of time and place of meetings. Transaction of miscellaneous business.

SECOND DAY.
Convention called to order by Senator Harrison.

Prayer. Report of committee on credentials. Report of committee on permanent organization.

Address by the permanent chairman, Senator Walsh of Montana.

THIRD DAY.
Convention called to order by Senator Walsh.

Prayer. Announcements by the secretary. Adoption of rule limiting nominating speeches for President to 20 minutes and seconding speeches to five minutes, and limiting latter to three in number; also limiting nominating speeches for Vice President to 10 minutes and not to exceed two in number.

Adoption of rule recognizing and enforcing unit rule in the delegations of the states which have adopted such a rule in their State conventions.

Call of states for candidates for presidential nominee. After the nominating speeches have been made the convention will adopt a platform.

From this point the program is indefinite. It seems probable that all the nominating speeches in prospect may not be delivered in one day; or a night session may be decided upon.

Should nominating speeches have been disposed of, the adoption of the platform becomes the order of business and if there be a contest from the floor on any of the planks, consideration of the platform alone may consume an entire day.

The platform out of the way, the convention will proceed to the balloting for the presidential nominee.

Nominations for Vice President will be made after the first place on the ticket is filled.

RADIO STATION KSD WILL BROADCAST THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

BEGINNING tomorrow the Democratic National Convention in New York, the Post-Dispatch radio station will broadcast the proceedings of the convention, day and night, with the same thorough service which it gave at the Republican convention in Cleveland.

This station will be the only one in the St. Louis territory to give this convention service. Eight stations in other cities also will put the convention proceedings on the air. These will be WJZ and WFAP, New York; WGB, Rochester; WCAP, Washington; Buffalo: KDKA, Pittsburgh; WMAQ, Chicago, and WDAF, Kansas City.

The proceedings and music, picked up by microphones in the convention hall, will be brought to St. Louis by radio from the KSD transmitting station on the roof of the Post-Dispatch Building. It will be possible for radio news in St. Louis and nearby territory to hear the proceedings on crystal or tube sets.

Justment of justifiable questions arbitration for arbitrable disputes and investigation, before resort to war, of all differences that come to be settled by courts of law and under all circumstances, right to control our own destiny and to determine whether or not, and when, our national shall engage in war.

The moral influence of the United States and the confidence of other nations in its leadership in the world movement for universal peace. Our Government should, therefore, endeavor to secure a joint agreement with all the leading nations for world disarmament and also for a referendum on war, except in case of a threatened invasion. Those who in the coming years will bear the burdens imposed by our world, wherever possible, be consulted before the supreme sacrifice is required of them."

Clarke's League Plank.
The pro-League plank, sponsored by the League of Nations, National Association and written by former Justice Clarke, states that modern conditions demand some new agency for the prevention of war.

"The League of Nations and the World Court," the proposed plank says, "constitutes the supreme effort of the statesmanship and religious conviction of centuries to create the world for peace and four years of experience have shown them to be such effective and promising agencies for achieving international co-operation that it is clear that adherence to them by the United States would mean the greatest moral and political institutions hitherto uncovered for outlawing war and securing the peace of the world."

"Wherefore the Democratic party declares that if it is successful in the coming election it will be the purpose of the next administration to do all in its power to secure for our country that leadership in the family of nations which in the providence of God has so clearly been marked out for it by causing our Government to enter the League of Nations and the World Court upon such terms as to the administration and the Senate may seem necessary to adapt these two institutions to our peculiar national situation and needs, provided only that they be consistent with our Constitution and with the dignity and character, the moral responsibility and the power of our republic."

The Democratic party pledges all its energies to the outlawing of war. We refuse to believe that the wholesale slaughter of human beings on the battlefield is any more necessary to man's highest development than is killing by individuals. War's cruelties, made more terrible by modern inventions, are a menace to civilization.

We invite the co-operation of all parties in a determined effort to develop such complete machinery for peace as shall insure the settlement of all international controversies by reason instead of force. To this end we favor participation with other nations in a court of international justice for the ad- of our republic."

The Bryan plank which he will urge in substitution for the Baker-Glass formula endorsing the League, follows:

JAPANESE KILLINGS REVIVE OUTBURSTS AGAINST THE U. S.

News of Two Murders Near San Pedro Given Great Prominence in All the Tokio Newspapers.

EXTRA PROTECTION FOR AMERICANS

Excitement Subsides When Facts Are Learned, but Jingo Press Prints Inflammatory Statements.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, June 22.—Evidence of the keenest resentment against America broke out here after reports of the news of the slaying of the Japanese near San Pedro, Cal., last week, but with the arrival of more detailed dispatches, indicating in the opinion of Government officials that the murders had no connection with the Japanese-American situation, excitement subsided somewhat.

The news of the slaying was displayed with the greatest prominence in all their newspapers. Leading "jingo" publications appeared with inflammatory statements against America, prompted by the murders.

Police took special measures for the safety of American residents, owing to the serious proportions the situation assumed, until more complete advice was received.

Jingo Press Cries Bitter.
Officials declared today that in the absence of authoritative reports from official sources, it is unwarranted to connect the murders with the situation arising from passage of the Japanese exclusion measure of the immigration bill by the United States Congress.

While the more influential of the vernacular newspapers withheld editorial comment on the San Pedro affair, the jingo press, including the Kokumin Yoron, Yomato and Yoku, comment bitterly and at great length and quote inflammatory statements of nationalistic leaders.

In a typical outburst, the Yomato points out the "danger to the lives of Japanese in the United States, declaring it is a mere waste of time to argue with America, and urging the Government to take stronger measures.

The newspaper recites alleged incidents of American violence toward foreigners, refers to American "imperialism" and "Jingoism" and concludes its article with the statement:

"Let the Japanese people ask themselves how long they can withstand the series of American unfriendly demonstrations and persecutions."

To Protect Americans.
The Talka, or "Great Forward Society," which was responsible for the recent invasion by its armed band of a dance at the Imperial Hotel and which is the most active of the "patriotic" societies at present, announced in advertisements appearing in seven of the most influential newspapers that it will do its utmost to protect Americans in Japan. The advertisements urge the nation to maintain its dignity and, protesting in keeping with the "Samurai" spirit.

Since the demonstration at the Imperial Hotel, the Talka has taken the utmost care to dispel speculations that it is anti-American. Leaders of the organization declare that its purpose is solely to arouse the Japan nation from its ways of sloth and luxury and to adopt the simplicity and loyalty of ancient days.

Gyosaku Shimizu, president of the Talka, issued a statement in a message to the people of America, handed to the Associated Press today.

Against Nation, Not Individuals.
"Do not worry for the safety of your brethren in this country," the message read. "They are safe and well protected. We have already announced that anybody molesting them we would treat as a common foe of humanity and the Japanese people. We do not fear to meet you on the battlefield, but we love you."

rule in one of the big McAdoo States like Missouri or Iowa, the psychological effect is bound to be highly prejudicial to the California delegates' chances. A break from McAdoo at a critical time. In some sectors which has been widely advertised as safe McAdoo territory, might, indeed, mean the immediate collapse of his drive. Knowing this, the opposition is waging an intensive campaign among the delegates of certain "key" states, including, notably, the three named, while the McAdoo people are working desperately to hold their line firm.

Delegates Go to Davis' Home.
Sunday saw little slackening of pre-convention activity. A party of delegates, including the Long Island home of John W. Davis for an intimate view of that candidate, who has refused to come to his headquarters to be shown off. The arrival of Oscar W. Underwood as the scene of battle gave a little animation to his headquarters, which therefore had enjoyed the distinction of being a quiet haven of rest for delegates with shattered eardrums and sore feet.

Pat Harrison, the keynote speaker, confided to inquirers that he prepared speech if he got the proper encouragement from his audience. Harrison and the per-dur of the platform makers, Senator Pittman of Nevada, Senator Glass of Virginia, Walsh and others—continued their labors.

Pittman said they had started out with six contentious problems to settle and had whittled the number down to two. He did not specify what these were, but a guess that they would be found among being argued that "the honors should be passed around."

INDIANA DECIDES TO PLACE RALSTON IN NOMINATION

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 23.—Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana will be placed in nomination at the Democratic National Convention under an agreement reached today at a caucus of the Indiana delegation. The nominating speech for Ralston will be made by Frederick Van Nuys of Indianapolis, former U. S. district attorney for Indiana.

A statement issued by the delegates described Ralston as a prominent attorney, a member of the Presbyterian Church, a former Governor with a record for economy, and declared the sentiment for him was "not the result of artificial stimulation."

Lenin, Gorky fooled us and obtained sick leave, but once across the frontier he dropped his mask. Gorky said the day will come when the Russian peasant will rise against the Bolshevik leaders and without pity will remove their heads. Other well-known anti-communist Russian leaders also say the time will come when the Russian farmer will return to religion and from deep rooted religious faith, obtain inspiration for revolution against the communists.

The Soviets are attempting to unite European farmers in a section of the Third International, now meeting at Moscow with delegates from many states, but these delegates usually represent only themselves. However, the movement has found some followers in Rumania, through dissatisfied Rumanians. In Bulgaria through Stamboullsky's followers, and in Jugoslavia through Croats. Generally European peasants are conservative and anti-Communist.

GOLTRA FORCED TO GIVE UP TICKETS TO DELEGATES

At End of Two Stormy Meetings Committee Turns Over 72 Instead of a Mere 22.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Missouri delegates, who last night were threatening physical violence to Edward F. Goltra, Democratic national committeeman, accusing him of favoritism in the distribution of national convention tickets, today heard a suave explanation from Goltra and took the few tickets he had.

Each Missouri delegate who has a full vote in the convention received two tickets for all sessions in addition to his delegate ticket. Each delegate having half a vote received a ticket in addition to his delegate ticket. Each delegate wanted from five to 10 tickets. Goltra was ridiculed and denounced at two meetings of the delegation, from one of which he was absent.

He called a meeting of the delegation in a meeting room of the Hotel McAlpin for last night, informing the delegates that he desired to take up the matter of tickets with them. The delegates gathered but Goltra did not appear.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, vice chairman of the National Committee and committeewoman from Missouri, finally arrived. She explained that the National Committee had allotted 72 tickets to Missouri, and that she and Goltra had decided that the tickets should go to those applying for them in the order of their application. On this basis, she said, all except 23 tickets had been set aside. These were available for the delegates.

Storm Over Mrs. Blair's Head. There immediately broke a storm of angry exclamations from all over the room. Delegates were on their feet shaking their fists and shouting.

"What right have you and Goltra to give away these tickets?" demanded State Senator Farris. "You and Goltra were here on the job and why didn't you get more tickets for Missouri? Other states got more. Even these 72 are not by any means Missouri's rightful proportion. There are people who have come a thousand miles to attend this convention only to find that you and Goltra have taken all the tickets and handed them out to your friends. We are not going to stand for this."

Mrs. Blair, greatly perturbed, protested that Farris was "rude." Her explanation was that she and Goltra had decided that the first come first served rule was fair was not satisfactory. There were demands as to why Goltra was not present. Mrs. Blair said she did not know, that Goltra had promised to be present.

After much wrangling a motion to adjourn the meeting until morning was carried. A committee, consisting of Charles L. Hay, Charles H. Mayer and A. J. Hawkins was appointed to find Goltra and have him at the morning meeting.

Missouri of Great Importance. Goltra was on hand this morning. He called the meeting to order and took charge of it. He immediately began a calm apology for his absence last night. "I expect to be here," he said, "but I was sent on an important political mission by Chairman Hull, one of great importance to the Democrats of Missouri. I was not even where I could telephone. Now we must conduct ourselves with decorum and decency."

When Goltra explained that only 72 tickets had been allotted to Missouri, Mayer, a delegate-at-large, interrupted: "We have been informed that you got 72 tickets, Mr. Goltra, and Mrs. Blair got 48. We want to know what became of the 48."

Goltra explained that the 48 were for Mrs. Blair to fill obligations as vice chairman of the committee and not in her capacity as member from Missouri. He then began a long eulogy of Mrs. Blair. After about five minutes, Mayer interrupted again:

"I am not criticizing Mrs. Blair and not talking about Mrs. Blair's tickets and you are not saying anything about that. I don't see why you are running this meeting anyway. I move that Gov. Gardner be elected chairman of this meeting and of the delegation."

"In honor of the party," Goltra pounded for order and attempted to stop the putting of the motion but Mayer put it and it was carried amid an uproar. Joseph B. Shannon of Kansas City then pleaded for quiet. He said the proceeding was "unseemly." Goltra appealed, he said, "in the interest of the party," but offered no explanation as to just what party interest was endangered. Mayer finally withdrew his motion and Goltra continued his explanation, though he evaded any more definite statement than that there were only 72 tickets available.

On motion of W. O. Gray of Bowling Green it was agreed that each delegate having a full vote should receive two tickets and each having a half vote one ticket. On this basis the tickets were distributed.

The effect of the delegation fight was to force Goltra to resign his plan to distribute all except 22 tickets to those for whom he had set them aside and to make the entire 72 available for the delegation. The delegation will caucus this afternoon on the unit rule and other convention matters.

RIVAL CLAIMS OF
PARTY ECONOMY
MADE BY LEADERS

Chairman Madden of House Committee and Rep. Byrnes, Democrat, Issue Statements on Records.

ARMS TREATY CALLED
"EGREGIOUS FAILURE"

Republican in Reply Cites Figures Showing Cut in Public Debt and Reduced Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Conflicting party claims of economy in the handling of the Government's finances were made in statements yesterday by Chairman Madden of the House Appropriations Committee and Representative Byrnes of Tennessee, ranking Democrat on the committee, while Senator Warren (Rep.), Wyoming, chairman of the Senate committee, asserted, without party comment, that the Budget Bureau was "deserving of the highest praise" in the reduction of expenses.

"The Republican party has kept its faith in its promises for retrenchment of Government expenditures and financial reform," Madden declared, while Representative Byrnes asserted that "Republican control has signally failed to meet the hopes and expectations of the people for retrenchment of public expenditures."

The arms treaty, Madden said, had a "far-reaching effect in the effort to keep down public expenditures," and resulted in a saving of $254,550,000. His Democratic colleague countered with the assertion that the treaty was an "egregious failure," adding that the cost of scrapping American ships was $182,264,000, while Congress this season had appropriated $180,000,000 for a new shipbuilding program.

Appropriations Reduced.

"Since the Republican party began its program of retrenchment and financial reform," Madden said, "the reduction in the annual appropriations, from $7,044,000,000 in 1929 to $5,523,000,000 for 1935, is $1,521,000,000. This has been accomplished notwithstanding the increase of approximately $122,000,000 for the next fiscal year for the soldiers' bonus."

Declaring the Republican party must be held responsible for the "reckless use of public money" during the period beginning in March, 1913, Byrnes, on the other hand, asserted the "greatest retrenchment of the public debt was $1,185,000,000 in 1929, under a Democratic administration."

The public debt was placed by Madden at $4,121,000 less than the total at its peak, and $2,950,000,000 less than in June, 1920. The Republican party, he said, effected tax reductions in excess of $1,250,000,000 and made rates the lowest since 1917. Byrnes assailed the Republicans for failure to give relief to the farmers, declaring the farmer must sell his products at cost in the world market and buy under the exorbitant prices of a protective tariff.

Fraud and Corruption Cited.

"Under Republican control," Byrnes said, "fraud and corruption have found their way into the high places of Government, vast public resources have been exploited for private gain and those who are guilty have not been brought to account."

Taking an opposite view, Madden declared, "appropriations have been reduced, taxes have been reduced, the budget has been balanced each year, and while other nations are struggling with overwhelming debts the United States are enjoying the economic benefits which arise from sound financing."

Senator Warren in his statement pointed out that, since October, 1917, $2,773,470,000 has been appropriated for allowances and benefits to disabled World War veterans, exclusive of the bonus bill this year. The Federal Board of Vocational Training, he said, has rehabilitated 13,951 persons disabled in industry, and in addition 15,000 persons are in the process of being rehabilitated.

MINISTER DISCUSSES CRIME

The Rev. G. A. Campbell Approves Study by Bar Association.

The Rev. George A. Campbell, in his sermon at Union Avenue Christian Church yesterday, endorsed the demand made by a special committee of the Missouri Bar Association, for a thorough study of the connection between crime and laxity in the administration of justice.

The minister said that he and his fellow-clergyman would like to join hands with the lawyers in the endeavor to protect society against crime. He suggested also that a study of crime would lead into many phases of community life. He cited the conclusions of students of crime, that few persons are "born criminals," and that these should be placed in institutions. Most of those who commit crime have fallen by degrees, he said.

For the living room, dining room, hall, bedroom or kitchen. Save your wool rug the hard wear during the Summer months. Think how much cooler your rooms will be. Pabcolin Rugs are quickly and easily cleaned. No hand-and-knee exercises! No heavy broom work! Once lightly over with a damp mop, and they will shine spotlessly again, like the day when they were new!

Chinese, Oriental and conventional designs, in shades of blue, taupe, rose or tan.

Read Why Pabcolin Is the Best Printed Covering:

An Improvement on Printed Linoleum

Pabcolin lies flat without tacking. It will not curl at the edges. It will not decay, because of water getting underneath from frequent mopping. Because of the high quality material used, and the care with which it is manufactured, Pabcolin will last for years, with just ordinary care. The exceptionally firm base and the heavily printed enamel-paint surface insure an attractive appearance as long as Pabcolin lasts.

THEY TALKED BEHIND HER BACK

Then They Cut Her, Shunned Her Society, and Her Mirror Told Her Why

MERCERX RELIEVED HER TROUBLE

There's tragedy—but it happens to many beautiful women. Eczema, pimples, blackheads get in their insidious work, and a woman's happiness is the price. All unnecessary! There is a sure way to a clear, healthy skin. Mercirex will relieve you, just as it did this beautiful woman:

"I spent nearly half my income for creams and tonics to clear my face from that terrible breaking out, and I have found Mercirex the best. My complexion is once more smooth and clear and there are no pimples either."

Get out of the eczema-stricken crowd. Clear your skin of blemishes. Take your place unashamed in the world you love. Mercirex will positively relieve your trouble, no matter what you've tried before.

We know this statement to be true because Mercirex has relieved some of the most obstinate cases of eczema in our own State. It has cleared up skins that were given up as hopeless.

We guarantee Mercirex to relieve your trouble—or your money back. If it doesn't bring you prompt relief the effort costs you nothing!

Mercirex is not a patent medicine. It is not the usual dark, greasy, messy type of surface ointment. Mercirex penetrates to the true skin where the trouble lies. It vanishes! Put it on and go your way. It will not advertise your trouble to others. It is flesh-tinted, and has a faint, delightful fragrance.

Get Mercirex from your druggist to-day. Only 75 cents, and remember the money-back guarantee. Write The L. D. Caulk Company, Milford, Del., for free book on the care of the skin. We also recommend Mercirex Soap.

Hands—
that make you
self-conscious

ROUGH, red hands with their tell-tale in-the-dishpan look! How self-conscious they make you! It's the harsh soap you use for washing dishes that's responsible.

Just use Lux for your dishes and see the difference in your hands. Lux is the look for good of that dishpan look. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

The Jo-Vex Chemical Products Company, Akron, Ohio. Gentlemen: The first night I used your Jo-Vex it stopped my pyorrhea which was caused from Pyorrhea. AUTO PARTY HELD UP;
ROBBERS STRIKES GIRL

Machine Crowded to Curb by Three Young Men in a Stolen Coupe.

Three young robbers in a coupe stolen a black away, crowded an automobile into the curb in 5500 block on Bastmer av. at 1:45 a. m. yesterday and coolly took $32 and jewelry valued at $1200 from four occupants of the roadster, undisturbed by a passing automobile or by the presence of another party that stopped at a home a few doors down the street.

Miss Mildred Sheehan, 5534 Bartmer avenue, related today that the occupants of the roadster, returning from Hotel Chase roof garden, thought the coupe was inviting a race, when it pulled alongside. "We slowed down, hearing my home, and then the coupe stopped in our way," she said.

"Two well-dressed young men leaped out and covered us with revolvers, and the third, likewise armed, was right behind them. They took a $250 watch from Gerald Goessling of 4014 Flora place, who was driving, and a $150 watch and $12 from Anthony O'Meara of 3910 Greer avenue. They didn't seem to think of searching the girl's hands immediately, and I was trying to get my $1000 diamond ring off under my hat, which I was carrying."

"Miss Theodosia Monti, 1297 Oak Court, slipped off her ring and wrist watch and hid them. One of the robbers pulled at my ring so hard I began to cry, and he struck me with the revolver, making me dizzy for a moment. An automobile was coming, and he ordered one of the men, whose hands were up, to lower them. Then he pulled my ring off with his teeth, scratching my finger. Some other persons came home a few doors away while this was going on, but they didn't know it was a holdup until the robbers drove away. If I could get that ring back I would pay a reward and ask no questions."

TESTIMONY TAKEN IN FILM TRUST CHARGES

Cornwell Says Missouri Theater Was Built to Get "First Run" Pictures.

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation built the Missouri Theater, at Grand and Washington boulevards, because it had been unable previously to sell its film productions to first-run motion picture theaters in St. Louis. Frederick L. Cornwell, former president of the Famous Players-Missouri corporation, testified here today at a hearing of the Federal Trade Commission.

The hearing is on the commission's complaint that the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, its officers and associated corporations, have been guilty of "fraudulent and unfair" methods of competition, which are alleged to "have a dangerous tendency to create for the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and its affiliated companies, a monopoly in the motion picture industry in the greater portion of the United States."

Mention Building.
The building of the Missouri Theater and adjoining office building, the purchase of 14 St. Louis theaters from Harry Koplar and his associates, and the creation of the Famous Players-Missouri Corporation to operate such theaters, is mentioned in the complaint as a part of the alleged attempt to create a monopoly.

Cornwell, who is president of the company operating two small theaters were showing Paramount pictures, the productions of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, in the winter of 1918-19. Representatives of the corporation came here to look over all for the theater in the downtown district but Cornwell advised the Grand boulevard site.

Litigation resulted from the purchase of the Koplar theaters. Cornwell testified, and the result was that the 14 theaters were sold back to the original owners at practically the price they had received for them.

Cornwell Not Questioned.
Counsel for the film corporation was not permitted to question Cornwell regarding previous efforts of other producers to purchase the Koplar theaters, in which Cornwell had a financial interest. The defense counsel offered to prove by Cornwell that the defendants, in coming to St. Louis, "endeavored to open up a closed market rather than to close an open one."

Examiner Alvord declined this offer, as well as another to show that Marcus Loew is completing construction of a vaudeville and first-run picture theater at Eighth street and Washington avenue and that other interests, not affiliated with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, began construction recently of a first-run picture theater at Grand boulevard and Morgan street. He ruled such testimony was not material. Defense counsel made the offer to show that competition exist here.

Cornwell was a witness for the defense, the Government having concluded its case at Los Angeles last November.

An order directing the defendants to desist from the practices charged will be made by the Federal Trade Commission 15th flin against the defendants.

SAYS VOTERS HAVE "SLEEPING SICKNESS" IN PRIMARIES

Attorney-General Barrett Asserts There Is No Incentive for High Type Men to Seek Office.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 22.—"The reason why more men of high type and unusual ability do not run for public office is because they know the electorate has sleeping sickness, particularly in primary elections," Attorney-General Barrett declared in an address here last night at the opening session of the twentieth annual encampment of the Missouri Department of the Spanish War Veterans.

There is no incentive for high type men to risk defeat in a contest where money and manipulation count more than merit, Barrett asserted.

"Everybody knows how difficult it is for a public officer to be true to his highest ideals and 'stay in politics,'" Barrett continued. "We do nothing about it. The result is that such men, as a rule, do not stay in politics."

Public office offers a splendid opportunity in America for public service, and many citizens would choose public work as a career, the speaker said, if it could be planned with any definite assurance of public support. "No such career is possible, which depends upon the hazards of a primary election which is deserted by three-fourths of the voters and left to the prejudices and guesswork of the rest," he added.

British Columbia Liberal Party Wins.

By the Associated Press.
VANCOUVER, B. C., June 22.—The Liberal party government has been returned to power in British Columbia by a slight lead, late reports indicate. Out of a total House membership of 48, the Liberals have elected 29, the Conservatives 18, the Provincials three, Independents two and Labor three. The Liberals are leading in one out of four doubtful constituencies, the Conservatives in two and the Provincials in one.

TWO FISHERMEN AND BOY SWIMMER DROWN

Deaths Occur at Separate Points Sunday in Vicinity of St. Louis.

Two boys and a man were drowned yesterday in the vicinity of St. Louis, one boy while swimming, the other while trying to recover his fish pole, which had been jerked from his hand by a fish, and the man while baiting a trout line.

Thomas Carl Hogan, 12 years old, of Prospect Hill, St. Louis County, was swimming with three other boys in Moline creek, near Prospect Hill, when the Hogan boy sang in eight feet of water. John Blascho, 12 years old, of Prospect Hill, dived for the body and brought it to shore, almost exhausting himself in the effort.

Illinois Youth Drowned.

Louis Kessler, 17 years old, son of Peter Kessler, Freeburg, Ill., was drowned in Reicht Lake, two miles northwest of Freeburg, when he waded into the water to retrieve his fishing pole.

Kessler and Elmer Zine and Frank Boone, each 17 years old, were fishing from the bank when Kessler, in a moment of inattention, permitted the pole to be pulled from his hand by a fish that had taken the hook. Kessler threw it at the clothing and waded into the water. About 14 feet from shore he sank. He came up once. Although he could swim he seemed helpless and sank and did not again appear.

The other boys ran for help and Webster Cravens, living near, came and, after diving repeatedly, recovered the body.

Verdict of Accident.

A verdict of accident was returned at the inquest. The funeral will be Wednesday.

Otto Tackstein, 45 years old, was in a flatboat on Creve Coeur Lake, accompanied by his son, Robert, 22, and a nephew, after Saturday mid- night, and was leaning over bating his trout line when he lost his bal- ance and fell into the water. The boat was pushed from him as he went over and before it could be controlled and brought back he had drowned. His son recovered his body after seven minutes, but efforts at resuscitation failed.

IRISH ENVOY SANCTIONED

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 23.—The British Government has assented to the proposal of the Irish Free State to send a separate representative to Washington, it was announced in the House of Commons today by J. H. Thomas, the Colonial Secre- tary. The question whether such representative would have an in- dependent position at Washington was being discussed with a Min- ister of the Free State, who is in London, Thomas added.

WANTS $5000 FOR VACATION

Mr. Lillian Stuart's Friends Live in East, She Says.

Mr. Lillian Stuart, wife of Frank J. Stuart, president of the Plapao Laboratories, Inc., whose divorce suit is pending in the Circuit Court at Clayton, today asked Circuit Judge McElhinney for an advance of $5000 against her husband as vacation expenses.

"All my friends live in the East," she explained, "and I'll need that much for railroad fare, clothes, hotel bills and amusements." The Judge took the matter under ad- judgment.

HEAT AND CONVENTION WORK
PROVE TOO MUCH FOR HULL

National Chairman Faints Just as He Learns All Committee Debts Are Paid.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Chairman Hull of the Democratic National Committee was confined to his bed today, recovering from heat prostration, exhaustion from overwork, acute indigestion and shock from learning suddenly that the National Committee had been able to pay all its switchboard and would enter the presidential campaign with a clean slate.

The strenuous hours devoted to pre-convention arrangements and the ticket scramble began to tell on the chairman yesterday. Hull toppled out of the chair at his desk last evening in a faint, just as the Finance Committee reported that all debts were paid.

The physician said he expected Hull to be able to take the gavel when the convention opens tomorrow.

RAILROAD FIREMAN ACQUITTED OF MURDER OF WATCHMAN

John Reynolds Is Acquitted on Murder Charge on Circumstantial Evidence.

John Reynolds, a railroad fireman, was acquitted Saturday at Belleville of the murder of John Grosvenor, East St. Louis watchman for the Chicago & Alton Railroad, on the night of Nov. 29 last, when Reynolds was on a "tear" because another man had been selected as engineer.

The evidence was circumstantial, since there were no eye-witnesses to the killing and Reynolds unwaveringly denied knowledge of it. Reynolds was said to have become excited in the switchman's shanty and fired a shot into the floor. Grosvenor in a deathbed statement said that 15 minutes later a man whom he accented in the yards returned after walking away, asked if he was a switchman, and shot him. The bullet Reynolds fired in the shanty was of the same caliber as the one which killed Grosvenor.

MELLON TO TESTIFY THURSDAY

Granted Delay as Witness in Trial of Gaston B. Means.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who had been subpoenaed to testify tomorrow at the trial of Gaston B. Means and Elmer W. Jarnecke in the Federal Court here on charges of violating the prohibition law, will not take the witness stand until Thursday, it was agreed by both sides today. The press of official duties made it inconvenient for Mr. Mellon to appear sooner, it was explained.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Special Deputy Attorney-General in charge of prohibition enforcement, came from Washington today to assist the Government. She may take the witness stand later in the trial. Means, formerly a special agent of the Department of Justice, testified on Friday that he had been authorized by her to investigate prohibition conditions in New York.

Cummins, charged by the Mexico Government with relationships with insurgents, was ordered deported under the undesirable alien laws. The British envoy locked himself in his nation's legation and refused to leave. He was later recalled by Premier MacDonald.

FRANCO-BRITISH
ACCORD ON PARLEY
ON DAWES PLAN

MacDonald and Herriot, at Chequers Court, Agree That Allies and Germany Shall Confer July 16.

SECURITY PROBLEM TO REACH LEAGUE

Both Premiers to Appear Personally at Geneva—Representation of U. S. at Conference Hoped For.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Publishing Syndicate, Ltd., London, and the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, June 23.—The Socialist Premier of France and the Labor Premier of Great Britain have set themselves shoulder to shoulder in the common cause of European accord and will invite the allies to meet in London July 16 for what may be the first sincere love feast since Versailles. Three hours Saturday night and again three hours yesterday were spent in argument by the Premiers in the magnificent country mansion of the British Premier, Chequers Court. The meeting, may mark a new epoch in the tortured history of postwar Europe—provided (and the resolution is a formidable one) that M. Herriot can carry France with him in the course upon which he and MacDonald have embarked. So far as Britain is concerned, MacDonald is not likely to have any difficulties at home in putting the program into effect.

The communique announced last night, in terms slightly warmer than usual in these documents, that there is general agreement between the Premiers and "a common determination to meet the difficulties which have beset their countries, and, indeed, the whole world, by a continuous co-operation." The important point is that this communique, unlike its predecessors, really means what it says and makes announcements of extreme importance.

Problem of French Security. The allies will meet July 14, if Italy and Belgium concur, in a conference at London, whose purpose will be to agree on how to put the Dawes reparations scheme into operation, although this is not specifically stated in the bulletin. Herriot and MacDonald also agreed to invite Germany to this conference on a basis of partial participation. The Germans are to be asked to sign a protocol committing them to the agreed details of the Dawes scheme.

Of equal—perhaps greater—importance is the brief statement that MacDonald and Herriot will appear at the opening of the League of Nations assembly in Geneva Aug. 23. This visit is intended, as was agreed yesterday, to assist the League in solving the problem of French security, which, as Herriot definitely agreed with MacDonald, involves the general security of all nations against each other. Before this visit to Geneva, MacDonald has promised to meet with Herriot in Paris to discuss details.

Herriot and MacDonald skated over much time. No effort was made to solve such questions as interrelated debts, but it was agreed to appoint experts with a view to holding an inquiry into the whole problem.

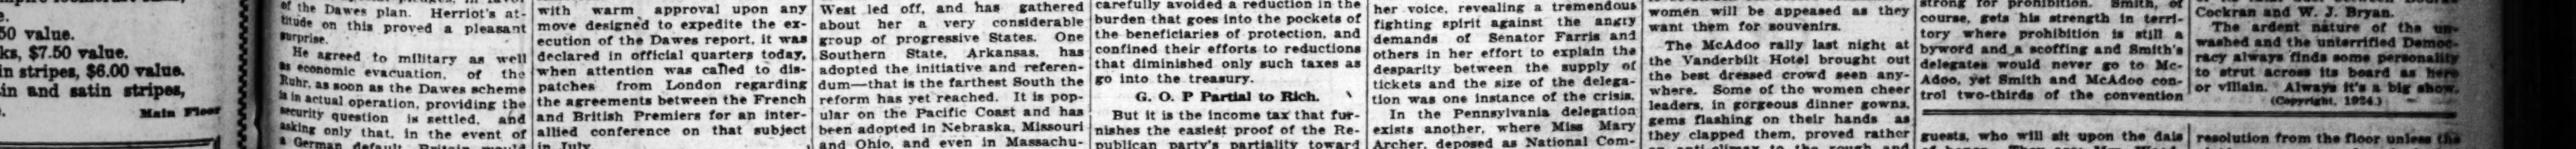

Prepared to Quit Ruhr. The two Premiers, before retiring at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, had grappled with the whole question of the French attitude toward the abandonment of the Ruhr, and the other special pledges, in favor of the Dawes plan. Herriot's attitude on this proved a pleasant surprise.

He agreed to military as well as economic evacuation, of the Ruhr, as soon as the Dawes scheme is in actual operation, providing the security question is settled, and asking only that, in the event of a German default, Britain would stand by France. To this the British Premier cordially agreed.

Herriot raised a few small points, asking that of the three Ruhr ports occupied by the allies in 1920 one should be retained, especially Duiseldorf, and that a small railway be kept as a safeguard against trouble. But none is expected.

Definite Pact of Co-operation. At the end of the conversation yesterday, MacDonald, after a long, impassioned resume of the horrors before Europe if Franco-British accord is not attained, expressed the hope that the Entente reached would weather all difficulties and continue until European settlement is finally achieved. Herriot interjected: "You mean, then, that we have agreed to conclude a definite pact of Franco-British co-operation?" MacDonald replied: "I agree." These remarks

In the lead of the delegation is former Governor and former Ambassador D. R. Francis.

It Is Hard for Democrats to Oppose Plank for Referendum On League Issue, Bryan Writes

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN. NEW YORK, June 23.—The Democratic platform comes first; the planks are being formed. The platform of the Democratic party is embodied in the plank which will deal with the question of international co-operation, and they will range all the way from an endorsement of the League of Nations straight out down through various modifications, qualifications, and reservations, to a plank providing for a referendum on the question, whether the United States desires to enter the league upon such terms as the Senate may prescribe.

The referendum is a popular idea, democratic in principle and difficult to oppose. Mr. McAdoo has announced himself in favor of leaving the question to the American people. The initiative and referendum have been adopted in several States. Oregon in the far West led off, and has gathered about her a very considerable group of progressive States. One Southern State, Arkansas, has adopted the initiative and referendum—that is the farthest South the reform has yet reached. It is popular on the Pacific Coast and has been adopted in Nebraska, Missouri and Ohio, and even in Massachusetts.

Wilson Advocated It. President Wilson, after opposing the initiative and referendum for many years, became an advocate of the reform, and President Roosevelt, after opposing it in Oklahoma's constitution, recommended it in Ohio.

The idea is in force in the parliamentary governments of Europe, although somewhat loosely entwined with the popularity of individualism and party prejudice. The referendum, as employed in this country, presents the issue distinctly and alone so that the voter can approve or disapprove without expressing himself on any other question or person. It has been found of great value in the issuance of bonds, the granting of franchises, and the amending of constitutions. It is difficult for a Democrat to oppose a proposition that gives the sovereign voters a chance to decide questions that concern them. It is possible that the so-called peace plank may combine a general statement of the nation's position as embodied in the plank which I have given to the public and the referendum proposition.

One Side to Tariff. There is only one side to the tariff proposition. The historic attitude of the Democratic party is against a protective tariff. There were formerly a few weak-kneed tariff reformers among the Democrats in the manufacturing states, but the prosperity that followed tariff reduction under the Wilson administration exposed the shallowness of the arguments of protectionists and convinced the country that panics do not necessarily follow tariff reduction.

The present tariff laws is the sum of abominations; it lays a burden estimated at four billions a year upon the consumers of the United States, four-fifths of which goes into the pockets of protected interests. High tariff will be executed "without benefit of clergy," and attention may be called to the vociferous plea for tax reduction carefully avoided a reduction in the burden that goes into the pockets of the beneficiaries of protection, and confined their efforts to reductions that diminished only such taxes as go into the treasury.

G. O. P. Partial to Rich. But it is the income tax that furnishes the easiest proof of the Republican party's partiality toward the rich. The Mellon plan was the boldest initiative attempted in many years. It was so notoriously unfair that 40 Republicans in the House joined the Democrats in rejecting it, and 17 Republicans joined the Democrats in substituting the rates of the Democratic substitute. There were enough Progressive Republicans in the Senate to enable the Democrats to convert the revenue bill into a Democratic measure.

Mr. Mellon wanted to fix the maximum surtax at 25 per cent, but the Democrats with the aid of the Progressive Republicans, fixed it at 40 per cent. "No other Cabinet officer has been kicked about and cuffed, and rolled in the dust as Secretary Mellon has been and yet he was given a great ovation at Cleveland. He will get anything but an ovation at the hands of the Democrats. As a result of his efforts of two years ago to shift the burden of taxation from the rich lawyers and is about to serve warrants for larceny was the gospel at National Committee headquarters in the Waldorf yesterday.

A Terrible Faux Pas. The badge situation is hardly less satisfactory. Somebody, Charles A. Greathouse, the secretary of the National Committee, they say, made a terrible faux pas. He ordered the old badges bearing the legend "Associate National Committeewoman" duplicated, thinking that as the women had worn them four years ago they would be satisfactory now. He hasn't been in office very long and had not learned that women have become full-fledged members. At the gathering of National Committeewomen to receive their badges the error was promptly discovered and great indignation ensued. Two badges were flung rejected. Finally a jeweler was called in, Sunday afternoon though it was, who decided that the hateful word "Associate" might be filed off the bronze medalion. Well, that might do the time being if he could get the whole 48 done by Tuesday, but new and correct badges would have to be struck off before committeewomen will be appeased as they wait them for souvenirs.

The McAdoo rally last night at the Vanderbilt Hotel brought out the best dressed crowd seen anywhere. Some of the women cheer leaders, in gorgeous dinner gowns, gems flashing on their hands as they clapped them, proved rather an anti-climax to the rough and ready, unexpressed and unlauded appearance the candidate had been endeavoring to put over. It isn't his fault, of course, that his rosters appear to be prosperous.

In All Her Diamonds. Mrs. Nonie Boren Mahoney, National Committeewoman of Texas, was there in all her diamonds; for which she is famous. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman and Mrs. Norman D. R. Whitehouse were among the smart New Yorkers.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson expects to come to the convention, it is announced, as the guest of Mrs. Harriman. And Mrs. Harriman, gossip says, is so frequently in the company of Senator Thomas J. Walsh as to provoke romantic conjectures. Tickets, which Mrs. Blair in her position as vice chairman of the National Committee was accorded the right of distributing, were given to distinguished women guests, who will sit upon the dais of honor. They are: Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. J. T. G. Preston (formerly Mrs. Grover Cleveland), Mrs. Mary C. Bradford of Colorado, who was the first woman delegate to a Democratic national convention; Mrs. George Bass of Chicago, who was the first head of the National Organization of Women; Mrs. A. J. S. Selon Jacobs, official observer for the League of Women Voters; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, foremost woman suffragist, and Miss Mary Foy of California, a pioneer Democratic leader among women.

Noted Woman Speaker There. Among the 475 women delegates and alternates, certain personalities are beginning to single themselves out. Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, delegate-at-large from Georgia, is one of the most noted orators in the W. C. T. U., a feminine counterpart of Bryan, they say. She is expected to offer a minority resolution from the floor unless the platform presents a dry plank that suits her.

Mrs. Gratitude Bowler of Wisconsin is said to be almost as ardent a wet. She is supporting the candidacy of Al Smith. Miss Emma G. Cronwell is Secretary of State in Kentucky. Miss Mary Archer of Pennsylvania just came out of a hard fight in which she lost out as national committeewoman against the late Mrs. Schuchman. She is a modern farmer and stock raiser and a famous equestrienne. Miss Florence Sterling is secretary and part owner of a large oil concern in which she is said to have cleaned up millions. She is pushing the candidacy of Alvin Owsley, former commander of the American Legion, as vice-presidential candidate. She presides over his headquarters at the Commodore.

Minor Issues Seem in Fair Way To Control Fate of Democratic Party, William A. White Says

Ku Klux and Prohibition Overshadow the Chance to Make Party Direct Antithesis of Republicanism.

By WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE, Noted Liberal Editor and Publicist of Kansas. NEW YORK, June 23.—The Republican National convention at Cleveland frankly challenges the Ku Klux Klan and prohibition, and is sweeping into what should be the main stream of influence in the Democratic convention, making it a dirty, frothy, rather impotent tide.

These trivial and secondary causes and contentions have to do with the Ku Klux Klan and prohibition. The convention is liable to name its candidate and write its platform on a bias from the big economic issue so blatantly laid down by the Republican national convention and this slight will indicate the tremendous influence of second rate minds in the Democratic party and in the country at large.

If the convention sits long enough these minor issues, religious, bigotry and prohibition may sink to their relative unimportance, but today it seems as though these issues might control the major destinies of the Democratic party.

Lines Not Sharply Drawn. The forces of liberalism and conservatism are not dramatically staged. Smith and McAdoo, who are the leading minority contenders for the Democratic nomination, seem to be liberals. But the forces behind them are not divided along liberal or conservative lines to any marked degree. Smith, who attracts the liberals of the country, is supported by New York and New England and by groups of delegates who are conspicuously conservative to the point of reaction.

In his delegations are factions which would fit well in the New York and Yankee delegations at Cleveland.

Tammany and the Boston Irish have no desire to nominate a liberal, but because of his religion these delegates are eager to name Smith.

McAdoo, similarly, is supported by the South in which are groups of states dominated by dyed-in-the-wool conservatives; though McAdoo himself unquestionably feels that he is dominated by liberal impulses.

Undoubtedly Another Coolidge. Undoubtedly Smith's supporters would be glad to name Underwood as the second choice and Underwood is merely a well-fed Coolidge who broadens his base as a reactionary as Chairman Butler of the National Republican Committee. McAdoo has no second-choice liberal to whom he might throw his strength, if he tried. Probably he does not control his delegates. They likely when they leave him they will find their natural alignment in the convention, but surely McAdoo is the strongest single force developed by the preliminary contests in the states.

Because the South is shot through with the Ku Klux poison it is assumed that the South will be anti-Smith, and because most of Smith's supporters are adherents of the Holy Faith, it is highly probable that they would never go to McAdoo on any ballot in the convention. McAdoo is supposed to have had much strength among Mid-Western delegates who are strong for prohibition. Smith, of course, gets his strength in territory where prohibition is still a byword and a scoffing and Smith's delegates would never go to McAdoo, yet Smith and McAdoo control two-thirds of the convention if they ever could combine. To nominate either, one-third of the convention must go on mass to Smith or McAdoo without either Smith or McAdoo losing his present strength. This eventually seems grotesquely absurd and so if one were to prophesy he would say that neither Smith nor McAdoo had a chance though each is a leading candidate before the convention.

Pleading to Butler. Thus have the garbage boats of dirty politics dumped fanaticism and bigotry into the waters. If Chairman Butler of Republican National Committee could control the Democratic convention in the interests of public sense and wisdom would encourage him to handle it as it is now going forward. A Democratic challenge of the Republican position would bring the issue of plutocracy against democracy squarely up to the American voter and there is no doubt he would act.

America is not yet ready to embrace the theory that only as Big Business prospers can the country thrive, but the Republican challenge will be ignored or evaded by a Democratic attempt to make faces at their opponents without branding the Republican party as it has labeled itself in Cleveland.

Only a miracle which will come out of a ten-day or two-week session, a long session in which the garbage will sink and the waters clarify, can produce any strong clear current in this convention, which shall meet squarely the tide which the Republicans have tried to bring in.

Flag Hate and Bricks. Nevertheless the Democratic convention will be full of dramatic interest. For fifty years the Democratic conventions in this country have furnished the heart interest in our politics.

The mule is deeply symbolical of the Democratic party. His conventions are inexorably full of kick. Two elements always assemble in every Democratic convention. Rooster gentlemen from the Old South—chivalrous, talky, inclined to be passionate in their convictions—meet and mingle with Irish from the great cities—expansive, eloquent, fiery and militant gentlemen to whom life at best is one vast pug-nut parade, with bricks on the side.

These two elements, the old South and the city Irish, always make Democratic conventions vivid in aspect and thrilling in procedure. A Democratic convention is always liable to explode at any minute. For nearly 30 years Bryan has been the great figure in every Democratic convention, sometimes in victory, sometimes in defeat. He is a powerful, aggressive, fiery, and militant gentleman, who keeps his emotions in the ice chest, and may their heads on a cash register.

Source of Bryan's Power. It is because of the fire in him that Bryan holds his power in Democratic conventions. In a Republican convention Bryan would fall flat. Republican assemblies are always controlled by the repressed, unctuous, conventional, frock-coated acolytes of the steam roller, who keep their emotions in the ice chest, and may their heads on a cash register.

The Cleveland convention was dull, placid and eminently respectable, as were all other Republican conventions, with its monotonous staidness. And this Democratic convention, whether it be long or short, liberal or conservative, free or bowed, will have its crown of thorns and cross of gold, its platform injected over the Western Union amid hisses, its favorite son wrangled in a three-day deadlock, or its fatal duel between Bourke Cockran and W. J. Bryan.

The ardent nature of the unwashed and the untutored Democracy always finds some personality to strut across its board as hero or villain. Always it's a big show, or villain. Always it's a big show.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be swayed by merely passing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Location of Hospitals.

OSCAR Stein (letter to you in your issue of June 18) evidently is not posted on events and conditions which govern the location of most of our hospitals. The sick are not consulted on the selection of a site for a hospital and the erection of these institutions. These operations are left to the physicians, superintendents and Hospital Boards.

The physicians select a site convenient to their route of practice, and the board selects a site fronting a park or on a principal thoroughfare for advertising purposes. The superintendent looks out for the comfort of the nurses, etc., and, unfortunately, no one cares for the quiet surroundings for the patients to be.

All of our hospitals have been located on principal thoroughfares, railroads and parks, and the conditions were apparent to the ones responsible for the locations when the sites were selected.

Our parks are for amusement and recreation, our streets and transportation facilities are for the proper use for operating a large city. Why put restrictions upon the public because a Hospital Board saw fit to locate their institution among all of these objections?

It would be better to have the well visitors walk a few blocks to see their sick instead of making the conditions convenient for the well and an annoyance to the sick.

A new hospital has, within the past 60 days been completed and opened on Taylor avenue and Washington boulevard. A noisy street car line on one side and heavy traffic on both streets day and night. What patient would have selected this site?

A suggestion to future hospital boards contemplating the location of a hospital: Select a site away from the parks, noisy streets, etc., on the south or east side of a street, with the long axis parallel with the street, and create a park of your own in the rear of your institution where the sick can enjoy the outdoors without being exposed to the view of the public.

Dawes Criticized.

Charles G. Dawes for Vice President on his record of book-soldier (dollar-a-year patriot), arch enemy of labor, banker representing the Morgan international finance interests; favors repudiation and cancellation of France's debt due the United States; the reparations plan—unacceptably called "Dawes plan"—is unacceptable to Germany because absolute total amount of indemnity is not definitely stated; on the fence regarding Ku Klux Klan and prohibition questions?

In the dear old public to be bamboozled this time with "Hell, Maria," as in 1916 with "He kept us out of war."

JOHN C. MEYERS.

Old Courthouse Site Improvement.

RELATIVE to the recent controversy regarding the new Courthouse site, it might be added that not all who favored the eastern location were downtown property owners. Many favored that site for altruistic reasons. Even a casual observer will note the splendid influence of a new school, church, store building or even a new store front, in an old neighborhood. The Plaza site will have a wholesome influence in that section.

A suggestion is offered for the old Courthouse section: The old Courthouse, the blocks east of the Courthouse, from Fourth street to the Wharf and between Market and Chestnut streets to be acquired and converted into a park, providing a breathing spot for visitors and downtown workers at noon time. Band concerts would naturally follow. Would provide additional and convenient parking space for automobiles. In short, a piece of old St. Louis set aside as a fitting approach to the greater city from the east and emphasizing the old Courthouse, the Mecca of out-of-town visitors who seem to properly appreciate its historic value. This section being entitled in some of the bond money, the balance of the cost of this project to be assessed against the downtown property owners.

Gift in Moving.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH.

I wish to call your attention to an apparently good scheme used by at least one moving company here in St. Louis. I called up this concern for a bid on the job of moving household goods. They sent a man out and he stated they would do the job for $18. Considering this about the right charge, I agreed to let them do the work, whereupon he requested me to sign a contract, which I did (a one-sided contract, not intended for the company to sign). When they arrived they demanded $20 for the job "or we could get someone else to do the job." I hope that those who are going to move will see that if they get a bid moving their furniture, that it is in writing, signed by a responsible member of the moving company.

THANK YOU.

WHY M'ADOO IS UNAVAILABLE.

When the Sunday Post-Dispatch suggested the application of Jefferson's test to candidates for the presidential nomination, it set up a standard by which no unfit man could be chosen. "Is he honest? Is he capable? Is he faithful to the Constitution?"

Let us apply these tests to the man who is regarded as the leading candidate, William G. McAdoo. We do not presume to question his personal honesty. What the convention must concern itself with is the standard he has adopted to govern his conduct in dealing with matters of public interest. A man might be personally honest, that is, above accepting a direct bribe or taking money or property in an illegitimate way, and yet prove himself unfit for a position of great trust, by serving interests inimical to the Government in a way not strictly in line with the highest professional conduct. A lawyer might serve any corporation in the legitimate practice of law before the courts and maintain the highest standards of political honesty and professional conduct.

Mr. McAdoo retired from the Cabinet to accept large fees for services to the Doheny oil interests in connection with the protection of those interests in Mexico. It was a political job, in which his influence was regarded as valuable in shaping the policy of the Mexican Government and touching the policy of the United States. Mr. McAdoo accepted large fees to represent corporations before departments with which he had been connected as Secretary of the Treasury, because his influence was thought to be valuable. It was not until after the exposure of Mr. Doheny's scandalous transaction in oil reserves with Secretary Fall that Mr. McAdoo admitted his connection with the Doheny oil interests and resigned. And his contingent fee of $1,000,000 in connection with his handling of the oil question in Mexico was not admitted by Mr. McAdoo until admission was forced from him. Since corruption involving the Doheny oil interests and in fact all of the matters with which Mr. McAdoo acted as attorney will be one of the prime issues of the campaign, the unavailability of Mr. McAdoo is manifest.

Mr. McAdoo's capacity is admitted. But is he faithful to the Constitution? One of the issues of the campaign involves the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, which proscribes citizens on account of race and religion, and which is addicted to lawless methods in carrying out its purpose to set up an invisible empire in control of the civil government. Mr. McAdoo is admittedly supported by the Klan, and refuses to clearly define his position with regard to that issue. Surely, under the circumstances, Mr. McAdoo is unavailable as a leader in a fight for constitutional government and the guarantees of equality under the law.

Mr. McAdoo is the champion of sumptuary legislation, specifically in the form of Federal prohibition, which overthrows constitutional guarantees with respect to the rights of the states and the rights of individuals. Manifestly he is unavailable to lead a fight for the restoration and maintenance of constitutional principles and democratic principles in accord with them.

It is evident that in a campaign for sound Democratic principles and for the restoration and maintenance of the Constitution, Mr. McAdoo won't do. There are, however, available men from the list of whom the Democratic convention might choose a candidate who will stand up under all these tests, and who would have the confidence of the country. In his honesty, capacity and fidelity to the Constitution.

Heier? Yes, there is a word, an ugly word, that rhymes with the name of a member of the St. Louis Board of Education and accurately fits his official character.

HEIGHT REGULATION BY REASON.

It would be hard to account for any serious opposition to the proposed ordinance to permit the erection of the projected $5,000,000 Bell Telephone Building, which would exceed the 250-foot height limit allowed in the building code. The "set-back" construction would eliminate any cause for objection to surpassing the old limit. The new building as planned would shut off less light than sheer walls within the present restrictions.

The city as a whole, we feel sure, will welcome the acquisition of the proposed building. It will be a stately mansion of industry and public service.

forming to high standards of art. It will rise as a towering and impressive background to the new Courthouse, when viewed from the interior of the Plaza. The obvious need of revising the code for this great project argues that height limitations should be regulated rather by reason than by arbitrary standards.

THE PATH OF GLORY.

While the world is preoccupied with small things an order has changed.

Jan Smuts follows footsteps almost obliterated by the sands of the times. Defeated yesterday in the South African elections, he goes the way of each war Premier who guided a country to victory or defeat in the great struggle begun just 10 years ago this summer. He is the last of the warriors.

Perhaps nowhere in history is there contrast more sharply marked, more poignantly picturesque, more tremendous. In 1914 a proud German Kaiser watched with gleaming eye the ranks of German youth—not yet "Huns"—march by with banners flying; it pleased him to be condescending to his cousins of England and Russia; assiduously he put himself to the task of teaching his god to goosestep. Today he is an old man established in a Dutch barn. And a harness maker has saddled Germany.

Woodrow Wilson interested a hundred million of his people in the waging of war for ideals that could not die. Scholars remarked that no man on earth ever held greater power. Today he fills a grave to which he was driven by the breaking of his power and the loss of his cause.

Clemenceau, Tiger of France, purrs innocently in a corner that a kind paternal Government would have allowed any man 54 years old. Once he played at the map of Europe as a boy amuses himself with a puzzle. Now Edouard Herriot, radical, guides France and considers giving back the Ruhr.

England's War Lord, upon whose power the sun never set, David Lloyd George, and what of him? A discredited leader of a minority party in a House of Commons that recognizes but one power—labor.

Orlando, also of the Big Four, drums his fingers wearily on his desk in the Italian Chamber of Deputies, where once he heeded but to speak to be obeyed. Mussolini dictates now and not everyone remembers even the name of the man who left the conference at Versailles with a second World War in his coat pocket.

The Czar and his family lie murdered in a Bolshevik grave. Lenin, the Conqueror, is dust. Franz Joseph, mighty Emperor of the Austrians, has gone the way people of the street predicted when black ravens perched in the eaves of his palace in Vienna. Spain has its Gen. Rivera. The Turk has changed his face and his little Balkan foes are very busy with the new order of all things.

Thus history. While the world finds extraordinary interest in the minute, the gigantic has come about. As a generation of politicians play for pence, party and pull, an age has passed, an epoch dwindled, a marvelous, unbelievable page of human history has been turned—with hardly a flutter.

LONG LIVE THE LEFT!

The Herriot Government is thinking not only of today, or even of tomorrow. The far-visions statesmen are considering the years to come when the present crop of French schoolboys and girls will be electors. The problem was, "How may we assure the Radical cause of their support in the years to come?" How shall we make them grateful to us forever? How convince them of our great wisdom and sound judgment?

The discussion probably was decided by Premier Herriot and President Doumergue, both former high school teachers, for the first item in the educational program of the Radical ministry is to declare Latin no longer a compulsory study in high schools. There is a brilliant stroke, and one which might easily have been overlooked by more experienced politicians. No more staying in after school to decipher exactly what it was Caesar did to the Helvetii. The dreary duel with the dative is done. More swimming and fishing can be done now, and the Radical Government has made a million friends.

MR. ANTWERP'S OPINION.

"THE best sport I know anything about at a time like this is reading about the attempts to climb Mt. Everest." Mr. Antwerp said. "I am sorry if the expedition is to be abandoned. "Mt. Everest is a little better than five miles high. It never knew a warm day, and the progress up its slopes is over ice, through sleet and snow. When I sit here in front of the stove with hot water dripping from every pore and steam hissing from my ears I like to read how these gallant men hew their way step by step over the glaciers and dig in for the night against the arctic storm."

"Of course, it is not that we may have this comfort in summer that the attempts upon Mt. Everest are made at this time of year. The explorers are availing themselves of the mild season on the mountain. Perhaps we would better speak of it as the comparatively mild season, inasmuch as the other morning they reported 52 degrees of frost. "This story suggests to me how people got through the fearfully hot summers our fathers and mothers used to tell about. They had the Greeley expedition and other arctic attempts out, and there was always something to be read about the progress or the probable fate of those expeditions. I can myself remember how we kept cool with Peary. It was much more of a surprise than keeping cool with Coolidge. It was such a relief that for a little while, we kept cool even with Cook. For something like 10 years Peary was out regularly after a pole, and it was always a relief to read how he was doing. "The same thing was true of people like Amundsen and Nansen. The thought of Nansen's ship, the Fram, being held fast in the ice probably saved more of us from heat prostration than we have any idea. "This is the chief hope of the radio. We have already heard the McMillan expedition as it through the ice walls of its igloos. We have heard the boys on the comfortable inside—talking about the uncomfortable outside. Despite the heat here we have felt our blood chill at thought of the cold there. This is psychology's fan, to the blast from which, blown down from the icy heights of the world's loftiest mountain, I have refreshed and invigorated myself this morning. "Go to it, boys! You are stripping Summer of its terrors!" Mr. Antwerp exclaimed.

If there's anything in a name it seems as if the "wet" Democratic delegates could unite in favor of Senator Glass—Providence Journal. People who think our wild life is disappearing should ask the bellboy or the taxi driver—Baltimore Sun. Muscle Shoals, as compared with Teapot Dome, will furnish a good illustration of open covenants openly arrived at—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

Prohibition is a rank failure under the present laws and the way it is enforced. A speak-easy is a pest-hole and an eating canker sore that eats away character, respect for law, and a gateway for quick death with its poisoned concoctions, bootlegger is the vanguard of blindness, insanity, disease, pestilence, and dispenses poisoned misery for his own greed. To be moderate and have laws that are moderate and cater to the wants of all concerned is the goal of reason. Light wines and beer are only beverages of all. Have we put that are not foundations of drunkenness. Place the right beverages in the right place; then you take the poisoned stimulants from the hip pocket of the youth, and remove the danger from the fool. Light beverages have no more effect than coffee or tea. All beverages should be so our children can use them. Remove the curtains, fumigate the pest-holes, amend the laws, put the bootlegger in a healthy business, sell your drinks openly and above board, with a reasonable tax—then you have reason, respect, law and common sense. Are our prohibition laws under the present system working for the best advantage of all? Have we put the saloon out of business? Have we made the criminal poor? Have we caused an increase in the respect for law? Have we saved on taxes? Have we not placed a mockery on ourselves by showing our children we pass laws and scoff at the same? Can you cure an appetite by removing a food altogether? Can you cause human nature and desire to stand still by legislation? Can you respect a law that the majority does not obey? How many homes have wet goods in their cellars? Can you educate man by using a billy or a jail or by fear? Can we say the criminal will not rule our country—because, under the present system, he is storing away great wealth, power and influence? Wealth has a peculiar power to cause some conscientious people to take a nap. Does not the fact that we have more arrests, a respect for law and more deaths from alcoholism, prove the present law is a failure? READER.

A PET.

Of all the pets on this old earth (And this includes the stoat) For real pulchritude and worth. The fairest is the goat.

Of course, like other pets he must Be both safe and sane; And so the following, I trust, Will make procedure plain.

In concentrated nicotine Just sink him to the nose. Then spray him well with gasoline. And wash him with a hose.

Then scour him thoroughly with soap. And duck him in the slough. Apply carbolic acid dope. And use him well with glue.

In charcoal, pack him for a week. And dust him white with lime. Rough him with pentamethylparaoxaline. Although it doesn't rhyme.

His food you should select with care. And diet him on bones. Glass, putty, tin cans, gravel, hair. Old iron, rags, brick and stones.

As strength he gains, upon such fare. Add this—it's famed for vim. Old socks, old shoes, mephitic rare—And make a pet of him.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to register without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and political men on the questions of the day.

A REASON FOR ZONING.

From the Dallas Mirror.

THE New York World had a recent editorial about a man whose home was close to a lot owned by a company operating a rock crusher. Rock crushers are a failure as musical instruments. It is practically impossible to maintain the best commercial rock crusher at either standard or concert pitch. And rock crushers have no mute attachment. The sufferer under the cloud of uproar by day and the glare of dust by night just as long as he could which was as long as it took him to get into court with a good lawyer—and then he got an injunction. The court was shown that in the deed to the land on which the crusher operated there were restrictive clauses which ruled out rock crushing. That settled it. If it hadn't been for that, the clause in the deed the neighboring owners would have sold out at a loss and be looking for some place else to live by this time. But the clause was there. The judge had to be shown the clause before he would consider that the neighbors had any proprietary interest or concern in the operation of the crushers of their own holdings.

Here we find the real necessity for legislation permitting the zoning of thinly populated areas. Preposterous as the existence of a rock crusher in a residential district may be to common sense and common everyday experience, there is at least one Judge left in the world to whom there is nothing wrong about it unless the power of the crusher is violating a contractual restriction incorporated in the deed to the property. The new idea that a man is entitled to the peaceful enjoyment of his own property is a good one. It is a good one, a man may do what he will with his property regardless of everybody else. The right to quiet is one which needs to be vindicated in every city.

RADIO IN THE CAMPAIGN.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

THOSE who cannot obtain tickets for Madison Square Garden need not worry. They will hear more, learn more and enjoy more by listening in to the Democratic convention while sitting at home in unconventional pose and attire. At the Republican convention the voices of the speakers, interruptions from audience and platform, the exchange of comment between the convention chairman and his assistants, all the human machinery of such a gathering were far more vivid to the 20,000,000 listeners in a thousand cities than to those who gathered in the Cleveland auditorium. It was the best publicity the Republican party has ever had. It was the opening gun in the world's first radio campaign. It was the application of science to politics. The relations between voters and candidates. Radio will enable them to know each other better and to appraise each other more accurately. Man is by nature a political animal, but it has remained for science to make the political campaign a venture for every home in America.

New Films

Offerings at Local Picture Houses Have Wide Range of Scene and Action, Extending From Paris to the Far North.

CONWAY TEARLE and Barbara La Marr, ably assisted by Charles de Roche, Ben Lyon and Joie Sedgwick make the most of a rather sordid story in their presentation of "The White Moth," the week's picture feature at the Grand Central and Lyric theatres. At the opening Miss La Marr, as a disheveled American singer in Paris, is about to jump in the Seine. Along comes De Roche as a dance impresario and gives her a job. You think at first he is the hero, but he isn't. He presumes on his generosity and the singer has to repulse him. Enter then Ben Lyon, as an impressionable young American who falls in love with the gorgeous La Marr. Follows Conway Tearle, bent upon saving his impressionable young brother from the woman. Of course, he himself falls under her spell. He comes to America with her and marries her, but after the ceremony he turns her down cold, telling her that he went to the altar with her only to prevent his brother from marrying her. He has heard of the interest which the dance impresario had in her and he has dark suspicions about her past. To make things worse the dancing villain waltzes in about this time and helps the singer along. The surprised wife follows the dancer to his home and is found there by her husband. She has a pistol in her hand and the dancing villain has just been shot. But it turns out that another woman shot him and that, a subtle similarity tells us, proves Miss La Marr was innocent all the time. At least, this convinces the husband and so the happy ending. Maurice Tourneur directed this picture. It has some fine settings and big reel scenes.

Melodrama and Divers. "THE GUILTY ONE" in which Agnes Ayres stars at the Missouri Theater this week, is another of those murder mystery pictures in which the spectator is kept guessing until the last and guessing wrong. But the interest of the film does not depend solely on the mystery, but is also in the development of the domestic tragedy that precedes the murder.

It is the old story of the woman who has every luxury but thinks she is neglected because her husband is so absorbed in his profession that he does not find time to take her to dances and parties. She has a younger brother who takes her to entertainments, but the brother calmly tells the husband that he is neglecting his wife.

This woman, like so many film heroines, has the queer idea that she can help her husband's business by allowing other men to escort her to parties, and these innocent pastimes give occasion for a blackmailing sheet to get in its work. The scenario writers always give to the women who have a life of idle luxury queer ideas are not entertained by the more numerous group of women who have work to do and children to care for.

The picture shows the conventional scenes of well-furnished and comfortable appearing interiors, and the acting is satisfactory, though not notable. As a stage presentation there is a diving act by a group of girls that is above the average, for there are enough backward somersaults, backflips, water and long distance plunges to thrill the most seasoned vaudeville patron.

Good Summer Bill at Kings.

THE KINGS THEATER and GARDEN has an excellent weather attraction this week in "The Chechachoon," a film drama of snow and ice and of below zero in Alaska. It is a good one, too, of the great Northwest during the days of the gold rush and tells of the adventures of a couple of college professors and their families who are pretty well mixed up with a wild gang of prospectors in the wildest of the wild regions at a time when there wasn't any law to speak of being observed. The most villainous of all the villains is played by Alexis Luce, late of the Woodward Players at the Empress Theater, and Mr. Luce's Olive street engagement ended, remained over in St. Louis to appear this week in person at the Kings. He is extremely popular with local theatergoers and was given an enthusiastic reception both on the screen and when he stepped out upon the stage. There are some excellent photographic shots in "The Chechachoon," which add to the attractiveness of the story, which is full of thrills and good drama.

A Romantic Gunner.

SCREENS of the R. K. M. Beach's story, "Flaming Gold," is the week's feature at the Capitol. Milton Sills and Anna Q. Nilsson have the leading roles. This is an amusing and at times thrilling story of a piebald family that suddenly struck it rich in the oil fields. Miss Nilsson portrays the beautiful daughter of this family. In the early stages she is a smooth child of nature, but with the adaptability of present-day youth she steps out at high speed when the family acquires riches. Some of the most amusing scenes are those in which she is shown rapidly acquiring culture. Milton Sills is the astute young partner of the girl's newly rich father. He falls in love with the girl and in-

Offerings at Local Picture Houses Have Wide Range of Scene and Action, Extending From Paris to the Far North.

CONWAY TEARLE and Barbara La Marr, ably assisted by Charles de Roche, Ben Lyon and Louis Sedgwick make the most of a rather sordid story in their presentation of "The White Moth," the week's picture feature at the Grand Central and Lyric Skydome. At the opening Miss La Marr, as the disillusioned American singer in Paris, is about to jump in the Seine. Along comes De Roche as a dance impresario and gives her a job. You think at first he is the hero, but he isn't. He presumes on his generosity and then singer has to repulse him. Enter the young American who falls in love with the gorgeous La Marr. Follows Conway Tearle, bent upon saving his impressionable young brother from the woman. Of course, he himself falls for her spell. He has heard of the interest which the dance impresario had in her and he has dark suspicions about her past. To make things worse the dancing villain waltzes in about this time and helps the suspicion along. The spurned wife follows the dancer to his home and is found there by her husband. He has a pistol in her hand and the dancing villain has just been shot. But it turns out that another woman shot him and that, a subtle twist tells us, proves that Miss La Marr was innocent all the time. At least, this convinces the husband and so the happy ending. Maurice Tourneur directed this picture. It has some fine settings and big reel scenes.

Melodrama and Divers. In which Agnes Ayres stars at the Missouri Theatre this week, is another of those mystery pictures in which the spectator is kept guessing until the last and guessing wrong.

But the interest of the film does not depend solely on the mystery, but also in the development of the domestic tragedy that precedes the murder.

It is the old story of the woman who has every luxury but thinks she is neglected because her husband is so absorbed in his profession that he does not find time to take her to dances and parties. She has a younger brother who takes her to entertainments, but the brother calmly tells the husband that he is neglecting his wife.

This woman, like so many film heroines, has the queer idea that she can help her husband's business by allowing other men to escort her to parties, and these innocent pastimes give occasion for a blackmailing sheet to get in its work. The scenario writers always give to the women who have a life of idle luxury queer ideas are not entertained by the more numerous group of women who have work to do and children to care for.

The picture has the conventional scenes of well-furnished and costly appearing interiors, and the acting is satisfactory, though not notable.

At a stage presentation there is a diving act by a group of girls that is above the average, for there are enough backward somersaults into the water and long distance plunges to thrill the most seasoned vaudeville patron.

Good Summer Bill at Kings. THE KINGS THEATRE and the Garden has an excellent hot-weather attraction this week in "The Chechahcos," a film of snow and ice and 40 below zero in Alaska. It is a good drama, too, of the great Northwest during the days of the gold rush and tells of the adventures of a couple of college professors and their families who are pretty well mixed up with a wild gang of prospectors in the wildest of the wild regions at a time where there wasn't any law to speak of being observed.

The most villainous of all the villains is played by Alexis Luce, life of the Woodward Playhouse, Empire Theatre, and Mr. Luce, his Olive street engagement ended, remained over in St. Louis to appear this week in person at the Kings. He is extremely popular with local theatergoers and was given an enthusiastic reception both on the screen and when he stepped out upon the stage. There are some excellent photographic shots in "The Chechahcos," which is to the attractiveness of the story, which is full of thrills and good drama.

A Romantic Gusher. A SCREEN version of Rex Beach's story, "Flowing Gold," is the week's feature at the Capitol. Milton Sills and Anna Q. Nilsson have the leading roles. This is an amusing and a timely story of a plebeian family that suddenly struck it rich in the oil fields. Miss Nilsson portrays the beautiful daughter of this family. In the early stages she is an unworldly child of nature, but with the adaptability of present-day youth she steps out at high speed when the family acquires riches. Some of the most amusing scenes are those in which she is shown readily acquiring culture. Milton Sills is the astute young partner of the girl's newly rich father. He falls in love with the girl and inci-

MISS SMITH TO WED WILLIAM K. GARDNER

Engagement of Debutante to Son of Former Governor Announced at Informal Tea.

Announcement was made yesterday afternoon of the engagement of Miss Isabelle Chenie Smith, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Elsworth Smith of 4502 Maryland avenue, and William K. Gardner, son of former Governor and Mrs. Fredrick D. Gardner of 4508 West Pine boulevard. The news was made known at an informal tea for 60 guests which Miss Smith gave yesterday afternoon at her home, honoring her guest, Miss Eleanor Bronson of Titusville, Pa. The young women who served were Miss Mary O'Fallon, Miss Marie Carr Taylor, Miss Jane Parsons and Miss Ruth Cornet, all debutantes of the past winter. Miss Smith, who made her debut last November at a ball given by her parents at the St. Louis Country Club, is the fifth debutante of the year to announce her engagement. She is a member of the Imperial and the Junior League, and attended the Sacred Heart Convent and Eden Hall School in Philadelphia.

Announcement was made only last week of the engagement of Miss Eula Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Wilson of 28 Washington terrace, to McDougall Smith, brother of Miss Isabelle Smith. Mr. Gardner is a Princeton graduate and a member of the Racquet club. The wedding will take place next fall. Miss Smith and her mother will depart next month to pass the summer at Point aux Barques, Mich.

dentally prevents her brother from forming a ruinous marital alliance with an adventuress. But the girl thinks he loves another and jealousy for a time estranges the young lovers. Then the hero thwarts the plotting villain who was planning to take the money from the girl. The scene shifts to the oil fields and the action in the latter part of the picture is fast and furious. An oil well comes in, but is struck by lightning. The girl dashes through flames to rescue the hero. They take refuge in a cave which is swept away by a flood and goes floating down a river covered with burning oil. Having gone through the perils of flood and fire together, the lovers drift inevitably to the final clutch.

Confounding a Politician. LILLIAN DEXTER, with and without a beard, is the hero of "By Divine Right," the week's interesting picture offering at the Delmonte. Mildred Harris has the leading feminine role.

Dexter starts out with a beard, but after he has a close shave in a training camp he comes back smooth-faced and gives the politician a thrashing. The story is about a zealous mission worker in the poorer section of a great city. In the course of his ministrations he learns that a politician is trying to get a young woman into his clutches. He intervenes to prevent this and incurs the enmity of the politician, who hatches a plot to make it appear that the mission worker has set fire to his own church. Through fiery fighting and other devious means the plotter brings about a conviction and the young man is started to prison. The mission house fire and a railroad wreck are the big thrills. It is reported that the hero was killed in the wreck, but in fact he escapes. Remotely amusing. At St. John comedy and a girl revue are also on the Delmonte bill.

The Bowery Comes Back. THOSE who thrill to the ancient strains of "The Bowery," Sweet Rosie O'Grady," Maggie Murphy's Home" and "The Sunshine of Paradise Alley" will find a thrill in "The Fool's Whistle" at the Rivoli. The setting of this picture is a re-creation of the old Bowery in New York in the days when it was the center of the hard-fighting, hard-drinking life of the metropolis. Mary Philbin has the leading role of a Bowery girl who is beset by many perils but in the nick of time is always saved by a hero with a rough exterior, but with a heart of gold. There are reproductions of many famous old Bowery resorts and famous characters like Steve Brodie, Chuck Connors, "The Benicia Boy" are reproduced to the life. It is good sentimental melodrama.

WOMEN FIGHT FOR 2 CHAIRMANSHIPS

Are After Pilotship of Credentials and Permanent Organization Committees.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 23.—Backed by 416 women delegates and alternates or almost one-fourth of the convention membership, Democratic women leaders have begun a determined fight to gain two major committee chairmanships. After a careful canvass of delegates, they say the outlook for success is bright.

Chairmanships of the Credentials and Permanent Organization Committees are the objective. Mrs. Leroy Springs of Lancaster, S. C., and Mr. Daniel O'Day of New York, are suggested for the Credentials chairmanship. Both are prominent and either, it is said, will be acceptable to the majority of the women. Western women, still to be chosen, will be put forward for the permanent organization chairmanship.

Campaigning for the chairmanships is being done in a professional way. First, the women decided it would be poor policy, because of their inexperience in things political, to attempt to gain either the rules or resolutions chairmanships, so they passed them. Not, however, without sending word to men leaders that they would not ask for the places and explaining why. Then, under the leadership of Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of Joplin, Mo., vice-chairman of the National Committee, they began canvassing delegations for pledges to elect members of the two committees whose chairmen, they hope to name. If the women have their way, they also have a woman majority on each committee.

Claims for Recognition. Women leaders base their claim for recognition of the fact that they have almost 40 per cent more representation in this convention, than they ever had before. In 1920 there were 298 women in the convention. There were 15 in 1916, and only two, from Washington and Colorado, in 1912. Since 1912, the women made speeches in the 1920 convention. The number who will speak this year will be much larger, it is said.

Other than the fight for chairmanships, there promises to be no outstanding feature of the women's activities. They are not fighting according to leaders, they are carefully avoiding the clan and prohibition plaid controversy. The opposing factions on the equal right constitutional amendment who clashed at the Republican convention, are here in full strength and already have appeared before the women's advisory committee, which will be the first of a series of public hearings, according to advices received today.

Biddle's first production, it is said, will be musical comedy, "Pansy." His field of production will also include farce comedy and drama. The initial production is said to be scheduled for appearance on Broadway in the early fall. Biddle sometime ago went to Hollywood, Cal., with the idea of becoming a motion picture star.

FRENCH DENY SEEKING U. S. ADVANCE ON RUSSIA

Delivery of Herriot's Note to Hughes Is Explained as Merely "Act of Courtesy."

By the Associated Press. PARIS, June 23.—In denying reports that Paris is negotiating with Washington over recognition of the Russian soviet Government, officials declared today that the delivery by the French Government to Secretary of State Hughes of a copy of Premier Herriot's declaration concerning resumption of relations with Moscow was merely an "act of courtesy."

It was explained at the Foreign Office that Ambassador Jusserand gave Secretary Hughes a copy of the passage of the French ministerial declaration regarding Russia simply because the United States is interested in the Russian situation and the French felt it ought to be kept informed of the development of France's policy toward the soviet.

The same course, it was added, was followed by the French Ambassadors at London, Rome, Brussels and the capitals of other interested countries, regardless of the fact that the Ambassadors of those countries would be expected to bring the entire ministerial declaration to the attention of their Governments. No significance attached to the procedure, according to the Foreign Office, and no reply was expected from the United States and the other countries.

A semi-official communiqué on the subject concludes: "There are, then, no special negotiations undertaken in this respect between Paris and Washington, as certain dispatches published in this morning's papers let it be supposed."

WOMAN GETS $10,000 FOR LOSS OF HEALTH FROM FACE CREAM

Drug Company Settles With East St. Louis Woman After Suit for $25,000
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 22.—A settlement of $10,000 has been made in the case of Mrs. Lucille Paulson of East St. Louis, who sued the Owl Drug Co. for alleged loss of health resulting from the use of a face cream sold by the drug company.

The original suit for $25,000 was tried in the Independence division of the Circuit Court in December, 1925. The jury awarded Mrs. Paulson $10,000 damages. The drug company appealed. E. C. Ellis, attorney for Mrs. Paulson, announced last night that a $10,000 settlement had been made and the appeal in the Missouri Supreme Court dismissed.

Ellis said that 15 years ago when Mrs. Paulson and her husband, W. E. Paulson, were residents of St. Joseph, Mo., she made frequent trips to Kansas City and purchased the face cream from the several Owl drug stores. Within a year, according to her attorney, she developed a gradual weakening in health which became more aggravated. In 1915, when the family was living in Knoxville, Tenn., Ellis said Mrs. Paulson was compelled to give up her housework and place herself under the care of a physician.

"Her malady baffled physicians," Ellis said. "She consulted many specialists, but none diagnosed her case properly. Finally, she showed unmistakable symptoms of lead poisoning and she was advised by an Excelsior Springs physician to go to the Mayo Brothers' clinic in Rochester, Minn."

The Mayo Brothers, Ellis said, diagnosed Mrs. Paulson's illness as lead poisoning. The face preparation was analyzed and was found to contain 43 or 44 per cent carbonate of white lead.

WOMAN STABS ANOTHER, CAUSING FATAL WOUNDS

Trivial Quarrel Between Neighbors Held Cause of Death of Victim in Hospital

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 22.—A trivial quarrel with another woman resulted fatally for Miss Mary Thompson, 32 years old, 317 Admiral boulevard, who died yesterday in the general hospital. Knife wounds in throat and abdomen inflicted by Mrs. Babe McFarland, who lives at the same address, caused her death.

Mrs. McFarland and her husband, Jack McFarland, are being held by the police, who obtained the story of the encounter from two neighbors. Miss Thompson, according to the neighbors, was returning home at midnight from a nearby store. As she neared her home one of the packages she was carrying dropped to the ground. Jack McFarland, who was standing near, put his foot upon it in a jesting manner and realized her efforts to pick it up. Mrs. McFarland, from the front porch, called to her husband and he went into the house. Mrs. McFarland returned immediately, the witnesses said, and a wordy quarrel ensued in which McFarland took the initiative and which ended when Miss Thompson was stabbed by Mrs. McFarland with a pocket knife.

Among Them Was Former Minister of Huerta—General Apparently Has Made Escape

By the Associated Press.
VERA CRUZ, June 22.—The rebel prisoners taken by the Federal soldiers during the fighting with the band of Gen. J. Guadalupe Sanchez, at Barranca Honda, have been executed at San Francisco de las Penas. Among those shot was Deputy Ollivier, who during the Huerta revolt, was Revolutionary Minister of the Interior and Communication. General Sanchez appears to have escaped capture.

Gen. Jose Legunes, who some time ago joined the revolutionary forces and later surrendered, again has taken up arms against the Government at Piedra Negra.

SEARS SLAIN WITH PISTOL BOUGHT BY EVASION OF LAW

Grand Jury to Investigate
Delivery of Weapon to Negro Slayer of Police
Lieutenant.

SOLD BY MARKET
STREET PAWNSHOP

Seller to Be Prosecuted if
Statement of Confessed
Murderer Is Verified, Circuit Attorney Says.

An investigation of the means used by St. Louis dealers for evasion of the State law against sale of firearms will be made by the grand jury, when it takes up tomorrow afternoon the killing of Police Lieut. Sidney E. Sears, nationally known marksman and long the champion shot of the Police Department.

William Lashley, the negro who shot Lieut. Sears as the latter sat in a police automobile near Fourteenth and Papin streets at 2:50 a. m. yesterday, says he bought his revolver from the Friedman Loan and Mercantile Co., Fifteenth and Market streets, and that he paid $5 of the purchase price down, but that he had to go to an East St. Louis express office to pay the balance, $23, and get the weapon.

The Circuit Attorney's office today stated that, if the seller could be identified, a warrant would be issued charging violation of the State law, which forbids such sale without a permit issued by a court clerk with the Sheriff's approval. The law carries a penalty of fine or imprisonment up to five years.

The payment in St. Louis would be held to constitute a sale in this State, the Circuit Attorney's office said. This point, so far as is known, has not been tested in court.

A Coroner's verdict of homicide was returned in the inquest today, after Lashley had made a statement admitting that he shot Lieut. Sears. He said that Sears, who was not in police uniform, called to him from the automobile, and that when he saw Sears' revolver pointed toward him, he drew his own weapon and emptied it, thinking he was about to be robbed. He was held for the grand jury. He said, before the inquest, that he expected to get "a little time," meaning evidently a prison term, for the shooting.

Lieut. Sears, it appeared, had no chance to use his powers of marksmanship in defending himself. His revolver was fired once, but circumstances indicate that this was after he had been wounded twice, and that he was unable to aim. If he did aim at his assailant and missed him, it was the first time such a thing had happened with Sears. In the days when he walked a beat on the levee, Sears stopped more than one fleet fugitive with a bullet, so aimed as to disable. It is not recalled that he ever inflicted a fatal wound.

Advice as Instructor.
As the instructor of the present generation of St. Louis policemen in the art of straight shooting, Sears' usual advice to young members of the force was:

"You don't have to shoot very often, but when you do, you want to be able to hit something." Sears, who had been a Lieutenant a little more than a year, and who was on night duty in Central District, went out in a police machine early yesterday on the nightly "prowl," or tour of inspection. They were out when, at 2:50 a. m., the homicide squad, under Detective Lieut. Aylward, was sent to investigate a report of a cutting off by between negroes at 1413 Papin street. The operator flashed the signal lights to notify policemen in the neighborhood, and the detectives in the automobile, seeing the flash, got out and called up the station. They then drove to the scene to which the homicide squad had gone, and saw the homicide squad car there. Sears' two companions, Detectives Mergolkamp and Stowell, got out, but Sears remained in the machine, as he was feeling the effects of the heat.

The detectives, on going to the building, met the members of the homicide squad, who told them that a negro had slashed another negro and had cumped, and that there was apparently nothing more to be done. As they were about to go back to the machine where they had left Sears, the detectives heard two shots, then one shot, then four more shots.

Sidney E. Sears, nationally known marksman and long the champion shot of the Police Department.

William Lashley, the negro who shot Lieut. Sears at the latter's residence in St. Louis, was arrested on the morning of the shooting at 1433 Papin street, when it takes up tomorrow afternoon the killing of Police Lieut. Sidney E. Sears, nationally known marksman and long the champion shot of the Police Department.

The Circuit Attorney's office today said that, if the seller could be identified, a warrant would be issued charging violation of the State law, which forbids such sale without a permit issued by a court clerk with the Sheriff's approval. Sears, who had been a Lieutenant a little more than a year, and who was on night duty in Central district, went out in a police machine early yesterday on the nightly "prowl," or tour of inspection. They were out when, at 2:30 a. m., the homicide squad, under Detective Lieut. Aylward, was sent to investigate a report of a cutting off of a signal light at 1433 Papin street. The operator flashed the signal lights to notify policemen in the neighborhood, and the detectives in the automobile, seeing the flash, got out and called up the station. They then drove to the scene to which the homicide squad had gone, and saw the homicide squad car there. Sears' two companions, Detectives Mergelkamp and Stowell, got out, but Sears remained in the machine, as he was feeling the effects of the heat.

The detectives, on going to the building, met the members of the homicide squad, who told them that a negro had slashed another negro, and had escaped, and that there was apparently nothing more to be done. other negro, who had done the shooting, had climbed over a stone retaining wall, at the Fourteenth street viaduct. Mergelkamp went over the wall at once, and saw the negro, Lashley, crouching beside a shed. He captured Lashley, striking him once with the butt of his revolver when the negro made a threatening movement. Lashley's revolver, and cartridges, which he had thrown away, were lying near the shed. The prisoner at first denied knowing anything about the shooting of Lieut. Sears, and told a story about being at a barber shop and in a gambling game. The police broke down this alibi, and got identifications from the negroes who had first run from the scene, and from white men who had been working on a loading platform and had seen the flight. One of the white men, Felix Hamilton, said he saw Lashley draw out his revolver, thrust his hand into the automobile and fire. Hamilton, about 50 feet away, did not hear anything said either to or by the negro.

After this evidence had been obtained, and after Lashley's wife had identified the revolver as his, Lashley made a voluntary statement to Chief of Detectives Hoagland, in the presence of Assistant Circuit Attorney Fish. He said he was walking past the police automobile, not knowing it to be a police car, when a man sitting in the car called "come here."

"I said, 'who are you talking to?'" the prisoner related, "and the man said, 'to you.' Then I saw he was holding a gun in his hand, pointed toward me, and I took my gun out with my trousers band and fired all the bullets out of it. The man in the car shot once at me. I didn't know he was a policeman."

In repeating his story at the inquest, Lashley said he had $3 in his hand, and that the man in the machine appeared to him to reach toward him, as if to take the money. He said he could get no clear view of Sears. Though not in uniform, the Lieutenant was wearing his gold badge on his coat.

Tells of Buying Revolver. Lashley, when asked why he was carrying a revolver, said he was afraid of prowling negroes, and wished to have protection both in his home, at 1703 Gratiot street, and on the street. He then told of having gone to the Friedman pawn shop, a few weeks ago of his transaction with a man who, man, and of getting the revolver in East St. Louis.

"I told him I wanted to buy a gun," Lashley said. "Mr. Friedman said he couldn't sell it to me there, but he showed me the revolver I would get, and took my $6. He gave me a slip of paper and told me to go to the express office in East St. Louis in a day or two, pay the rest of the money and get the gun. I did."

The slayer admitted he had had "a few drinks" shortly before he shot Lieut. Sears. He complained of being drunk when he was arrested, and as he was being taken

GENERAL SURRENDERS AT PRISON IN ROME

Military Chief Sought in Connection With Matteotti Case, Gives Self Up.

By the Associated Press. ROME, June 23.—Gen. Cesare Rossi, for whom the authorities have been searching diligently for several days to serve on him a warrant accusing him of being one of the principal instigators of the alleged kidnapping and killing of Deputy Matteotti, surrendered at noon today at the Regina Coeli prison. He declined to make a statement, saying he would reserve that for the court.

Search still continues for Matteotti or his body. The authorities daily continue to receive letters and other communications asserting that the senders can point out the spot where the body of the Deputy was hidden. Although the police have investigated many of the alleged clues given in the communications, they have proved worthless.

International Spy Who Denounced Dumini Reported to Be Ignorant. T. Lincoln. Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Publishing Co., the New York World.

LONDON, June 23.—British intelligence authorities in Italy have reported that Otto Czerizko, the international spy who denounced the confessed Matteotti murderer, Dumini, and who worked as a spy for both the Communists and Fascists in Italy, is really Ignatius Tribitch Lincoln. His appearance in Italy followed difficulties with the police of Austria, after he had sold to Czechoslovakia, plans, later declared to be forgeries, revealing plots for the subjugation of that country by reactionary parties in Germany, Hungary and Austria.

Opposes Boycott on U. S. Goods. By the Associated Press. HONOLULU, June 23.—The Japanese Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution viewing with disfavor the boycott of American goods in Japan as tending to injure the trade and friendship between the two countries. The resolution asks that "steps be taken to prevent such an unwise movement."

Into the station, but said that he was not mistreated in the course of his questioning. While the inquest was in progress, a special policeman dropped his revolver in the corridor of the Municipal Courts Building, and the weapon was discharged. The shot was heard in the Coroner's office, and some of the inquest spectators rushed out. No one was hurt by the shot.

Contention As to Such Sales. At the Friedman shop, a man named Friedman today said that sale of weapons, by sending them out of the State, was legal, and is followed by other dealers. He would not say whether the particular sale to Lashley had been made by him.

Sears, who was 57 years old, won the police gold medal for marksmanship for so many years that in 1910 the Police Board discontinued the awarding of the medal and gave Sears a button instead. The button was considered better than a medal as it could be worn at all times.

In 1921 Sears was outshot for the first time in 20 years in the annual police competition. Patrolman Nary H. Phillips succeeded in making a better score. Sears' friends believed then, and at later competitions in which he stood second, that he had voluntarily dropped back, to encourage some of the younger men.

Sears was regarded as a mechanical genius. At his home, 4833 Sacramento avenue, he had a fully equipped machine shop, radio station and museum of firearms. He habitually repaired policemen's revolvers, furnishing new parts made on his lathe, without charge.

Lieut. Sears' funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday from an undertaking parlor at 3710 N. Grand boulevard, with full police honors.

CHARGES FALSITY IN BRIDGE STATEMENTS

Alderman Wiehe Says He Was Approached by Woman to Sign Petition on Transfer.

Alderman Wiehe of the Fifth Ward today declared a woman approached him in front of his furniture store at 2022 Franklin avenue Saturday with the query, "Are you in favor of trading the new bridge for the old one?"

Upon his reply that he favored no exchange of the municipal bridge for Eads Bridge, he says, she handed him a paper, saying: "Then sign this to help us prevent it."

Examination of the paper showed it to be one of the petitions being circulated to get a referendum vote on the ordinance directing dismantling of the municipal bridge northeast approach condemnation proceedings, and making no mention of a transfer of bridges.

Asked by Alderman Wiehe, who voted to dismiss the condemnation proceedings, for an explanation concerning her statement about the bridges, the woman replied: "The man told us to say that to get signatures."

Questioned further, she said this man was "Mr. Sayman, the soap manufacturer." Alderman Wiehe refused to sign the petition, after declaring to the woman that false pretenses were being used to obtain signatures.

T. M. Sayman, president of the T. M. Sayman Products Co., 2117 Franklin avenue, when seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter, declined to make a statement.

The exchange of uses of the Eads and municipal bridges was formally proposed by the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Terminals early in 1923. Recently the joint council of the Associated Engineering Societies approved the proposal.

Other members of the party were Charles B. Warren, Ambassador to Mexico and chairman of the Resolutions Committee at the Cleveland convention; Charles N. Hilles, national committeeman from New York; and J. H. Roraback, national committeeman from Connecticut. Warren is en route to Mexico City today to resume his duties there.

The place has been twice held up recently.

TORONTO POSTAL EMPLOYEES VOTE TO CONTINUE STRIKE

To Remain Out Until Government Accedes to Demand for Conciliation Board, Leader Says.

By the Associated Press. TORONTO, June 23.—Postal employees in Toronto will continue their strike until the Government assents to their demand for a board of Conciliation. A. H. Hull, chairman of the local Strike Committee, said today. A mass meeting of the striking postal men was held last night to discuss the situation.

Hull said that 500 Toronto men were in Hamilton attending a conference with representatives of strikers from Western Ontario points. The Toronto postal men will attempt to persuade their fellow workers to walk out again, he announced.

Word came from Hamilton that 100 postal men in that city had announced they would strike again today. The Hamilton men went out when the strike was first called, but later returned.

NO DECISIONS ON MAYFLOWER. Coolidge's Discussion With Campaign Leaders of General Nature. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 23.—President Coolidge's discussion of the political campaign leaders during the week-end on the presidential yacht, Mayflower, is said to have been only of a general nature and to have resulted in no important decisions or definite plans.

William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, brought this word to Washington after leaving the yacht last night in company with the other of the President's guests at Chapel Point, Maryland, and motoring here. The President and his family remained aboard to return to Washington on the Mayflower today from a cruise in the lower Potomac River.

Other members of the party were Charles B. Warren, Ambassador to Mexico and chairman of the Resolutions Committee at the Cleveland convention; Charles N. Hilles, national committeeman from New York; and J. H. Roraback, national committeeman from Connecticut. Warren is en route to Mexico City today to resume his duties there.

HEAVY STORM SWEEPS UPPER RIVER STATES

Five Lives Lost in Downpour and Big Property Damage Is Reported.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, June 23.—One of the worst summer storms in years swept almost the entire Upper Mississippi River Valley late yesterday, taking at least five lives and hundreds of thousands of dollars of property damage.

Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota and Illinois were hit by the high winds and rains. Three persons were killed in Chicago and one in Minnesota. Probably the most serious menace to Chicago followed the storm in threatened pollution of the drinking water supply.

A fleet of sailing yachts was caught off shore and a half dozen were forced to run before the gale with bare poles.

Six Government air mail planes were wrecked at Omaha, Neb., when the roof was blown off. Two planes in far corners of the hangar were not damaged. Air-mail service from Omaha would not be hampered, officials said, although additional planes would have to be rushed to Chicago.

Southwestern Minnesota seemed to bear the brunt of the storm, in that State. One man was killed near Tracy, near which hundreds of farms were hard hit. A baby injured in the storm in Minnesota died today. St. Peter suffered considerably from the storm, which attained the proportions of a tornado in a 50-mile sweep from Lake Denton to Amberton.

In Chicago, a heavy downpour, accompanied by wind of nearly 40 miles an hour, flooded streets, tore down wires and seriously impeded traffic. At Olympia, Florida, County Club a caddy was killed, another caddy and three players injured by lightning, and a janitor, attempting to close a window, fell 11 floors to his death.

Thousands of persons thronging the parks and beaches in anticipation of a temperature above 90, as predicted by the Weather Bureau, were caught in the storm.

A panic ensued when a circus tent collapsed in South Chicago, and caught a thousand persons, mostly children, under the wet canvas.

England, Austria, Emigrants. LONDON, June 10.—Under the empire settlement scheme, the number of persons assisted to proceed overseas and the cost to the Imperial Government up to March was: 7557 settlers to Canada at a cost of $240,000; 35,759 to Australia, cost $1,700,000; 3287 to New Zealand, cost $350,000, and 13 to South Africa, cost $1000.

"I tried different remedies but they failed to help me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in about one week I got relief. I continued the treatment and after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed."

SASKATOON, Sask., June 23.—After a stirring career of 37 years in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Assistant Commissioner Theodore A. Wroughton has retired from the force.

Col. Wroughton joined the force as a Constable in 1887. He was promoted to be Inspector in 1893 and elevated to the post of Assistant Commissioner in 1919.

To Col. Wroughton fell the duty of pursuing criminals single-handed over the lawless wilds. Later he was promoted to be Magistrate among 25,000 men during the Yukon gold rush. Finally he exercised the police power over millions of square miles in the Arctic.

BODY OF BOMB THROWER BELIEVED FOUND IN RIVER

Corpse Discovered Near Canton Linked With Assassin Responsible for Causing 11 Deaths.

CANTON, June 23.—The body of a man believed to be the assassin who hurled a bomb into the Victoria Hotel dining room Thursday evening, killing seven persons and mortally wounding four others, was found in the Chuking River, Saturday, authorities announced to the Association Press today.

A revolver was found with the corpse. It contained one unspent bullet.

The fact that the assassin, after bombing the hotel fired wildly at pursuers as he fled, and escaped by leaping into the river, linked the discovery of the corpse with the bomb slaying.

The body is that of a native of Annam, French Indo-China, officials said. A reception in honor of Governor-General Merle of French Indo-China was being given at the hotel when the dining room was wrecked by the explosion.

COACH ROBERTSON ANNOUNCES HIS OLYMPIC TEAM SELECTIONS

Murchison, Who Failed to Place in Tryouts, Chosen for the 100-Meter Sprint

St. Louisan, However, Is Not Mentioned for the 200-Meter Race — Scholz, Kinsey and Johnson Other Mound City Athletes Named.

By the Associated Press. ST. LOUIS, June 22.—Lawson Robertson, coach of the American Olympic team, announced today his tentative list of entries for the 23 track and field events in which the American athletes will take part in the Colombes Stadium.

With few exceptions, the list (in which four men are named in all but three events) follows the order of the finish in the final tryouts.

The list is subject to additions or changes in five events, in which some differences of opinion exist among the officials and coaches, but the main list of names will be formally entered on the arrival of the team in Paris on Wednesday.

Robertson caused no surprise when he placed in his list Jackson Scholz, New York A. C., and Charles Paddock, Los Angeles A. C., in both the sprints; Loren Murchison, Newark A. C., and Chester Bowman, Syracuse University, will be the partners of Scholz and Paddock in the 100-meter, and Bayes Norton, Tale, and George L. Hill, University of Pennsylvania, will be their mates in the 200-meter.

This picking follows closely the final tryout order, except that Murchison, who has rapidly improved on board, has displaced Francis Hussey, the sensational schoolboy of Stuyvesant High School, New York, who was fourth at Boston. Paddock has recovered from the injuries to a toe muscle and is substituted for Louis Clark, Johns Hopkins University, who was fourth in the 200-meter.

J. Coard Taylor, New York A. C., M. P. Pith, Chicago A. C., R. A. Robertson, Boston, and Eric C. Wilson, University of Iowa, are picked for the 400-meter event, leaving on the side lines Allan Heidrich, Penn State, and C. S. Cochran, the Pacific Coast star.

Ray in 3000-Meter Race.

The last doubt has been removed as regards Ray, Illinois, in the 3000-meter race. Ray will have as his teammates Edwin K. Kirby, Cornell; Leo Lariviere, Holy Cross; W. L. Tibbets Jr., Harvard; and W. L. Cox, Mercersburg. The sixth man of the team will be named later.

Ray Bunker, Illinois A. C.; Lloyd B. B. A., and W. O. Spencer, Mississippi, are sure for the 1500-meter. The fourth man of this team will be either James J. Connolly, unattached, or J. H. Waters, Harvard, the latter of whom finished fifth in the 800-meter.

There is no doubt as to the fact that Ray Watson, Illinois, may run in the 1500-meter, in which case Waters will join William B. Richardson, Stanford; S. C. Enck, Penn State, and Ray Deane, Oregon Agricultural College, in the 1000-meter.

Verne B. Booth, Johns Hopkins; John J. Gray, Philadelphia, and Earl Johnson, Pittsburgh, the distance men, will run in both the 1000-meter flat race and the cross-country event. A fourth team-mate is yet to be picked for the flat race.

August Panger, Finnish-American A. C., New York; James Henigan, Dorchester Club, and Arthur Studenroth will complete the cross-country team in which six men are permitted. This shift puts W. L. Cox, Mercersburg Academy, in the 3000-meter run, and places J. E. Leonard, Boston A. C., in the 1000-meter with John Reamig, unattached; H. C. Deane, Iowa University, and Rhus DeHille, Butler College.

The names of the first four men in the tryout finishes are on the list in the high jump, the broad jump, the 800-yard dash, the 100-yard dash, the hammer event, the shot put, the 110 and 220-meter hurdles and the decathlon.

(Editor's Note:—Dan Kinsey and Franklin Johnson of St. Louis, second and third in the 110 hurdles, qualify under this arrangement.)

50 Boys in Trial For Marathon

Forshaw, Probst and Levinson Coach Youngsters for Distance Run.

Chester Probst, by a stiff sprint in the last 35 yards, won the first trial run in Forest Park yesterday in preparation for the Junior Marathon. His time for the 14-mile course was 10:45. Philo Young, August Schmid and Clarence Terhune, pressed the leader right up to the finish, coming in respectively in the splendid time of 10:47, 11:01, 11:05.

The balance of the squad was closely bunched and right on the heels of the leaders. Robert Probst, former crack distance runner, and for many years local 440 and 1/2 mile champion, led the squad and set the pace, over the hills and dales, from Old Aviation Hangar near the Mounted Station, through the park to the Municipal Theater and return.

John and Bob Kew, among the most diminutive of the squad, made a splendid showing, and finished in wonderful shape. They are the sons of John P. Kew of 1435 N. Grand boulevard. They are new-comers to St. Louis, having moved here from New Hampshire. The father is a veteran distance runner, who won eight marathon races in his time. He urges all the boys in his neighborhood, to get in touch with him or his sons, so that they may organize a small squad for training during the week in their own home locality.

Forshaw Gives Advice.

The entire squad of about 50 boys was in good shape after the run. They were checked over both before the start, and after the finish by Joe Forshaw, who also gave the boys a few pointers and advice on their training.

Henry Levinson, former local star distance runner, was on hand to help handle the boys, and announced that he will organize a squad in his neighborhood to practice for the race.

Boys who wish to compete are urged to get entry blanks from the St. Louis Tuberculosis Society, room 702 Equitable Building, 613 Locust street. You can write in, or call in person. On reverse side of each entry blank, a schedule and plan of training and preparation is set out. Forshaw urges boys to form squads to get in shape for the race, which takes place Thursday, July 17. Fifteen silver cups and 200 silver medals are to be given to the winners.

Ten of Chicago's 27 Victories Have Been Won From Browns; Today's Contest Is Postponed

White Sox Can Be Blamed for Low Standing of St. Louis Club — Sisler Protests Suspension of Austin, Collins and Himself and Says Umpire Must Have Misrepresented Facts.

By J. Roy Stockton, Ty Cobb and his Detroit Tigers, who are fighting the New York Yankees for the lead in the American League, will call at Sportsman's Park tomorrow afternoon to open a four-game series with the Browns. They are struggling for a foothold in the first division. The series was scheduled to open today but the rain this morning caused a postponement. There may be a double-header tomorrow, if the condition of the grounds permits.

Cobb's men had a chance to go into first place yesterday, when the Red Sox obliged by tanning the Yankees, but the Tigers could not hold a lead that they gained early and so today there are half a game behind the men of Miller Huggins.

When last they appeared at Sportsman's Park the Tigers were handed four spankings. Now, however, the Browns are crippled by the absence of Manager Sisler, Catcher Collins and Coach Jimmy Austin, who were suspended by the Umpire "Ducky" Holmes for protesting decisions in Saturday's game. And so the Tigers may find their path easier than when last they battled here.

Protest From Sisler.

Sisler and his men were incensed yesterday when they received the notice from Ban Johnson that the three men had been suspended and Austin declared ineligible. Sisler declared that Holmes must have misrepresented facts in his report to Ban Johnson. Sisler criticized the system which gives the umpire such high powers, including a monopoly of the presentation of evidence after a dispute on the field.

Sisler, Business Manager Bill Friel and Owner Phil Ball had a long conference after the game. No statement was forthcoming, but Sisler, during yesterday's contest, said that he had wired a protest to President Ban Johnson and had asked what the umpire's report contained that caused Johnson to hand out the suspensions.

The White Sox took advantage of Sisler's absence and evened their series, two games to two, by taking the final yesterday. Ray Kohn was knocked out of the box in the third inning, when the Sox made six hits, stole two bases and scored four runs. The last safety was made off Ernest Wingard, who went to Kohn's rescue.

Wingard Hurler Good Game.

After that Wingard pitched a fine game, but the Browns could not overcome the lead. They came within one run of a tie, but the Sox tallied one in the eighth and one in the ninth to make their victory certain. Ted Lyons, a right-hander, was hit hard, but the White Sox played an excellent game in the field. Mostell and Falk made some great catches in the outfield and the entire infield played brilliantly. First Baseman Sheely turned a leaping one-haul catch of a line drive to check one rally. Rib Falk's fine throw to third base checked another rally, the putout wiping out a run that

Vincent Richards Wins From Parks In Straight Sets

British Tennis Star Loses 6-1, 6-0 in Tournament at London.

By the Associated Press. WIMBLEDON, England, June 22.—Vincent Richards, American lawn tennis star, started brilliantly today his fight for honors in the annual Wimbledon tournament, defeating A. E. Pattison, in the men's singles, 6-1, 6-0.

Richards had little trouble in winning, not having to extend himself at any stage. Park exhibited a peculiar service, handling his racket very much as if it were a baseball bat, but the American was not troubled, returning his opponent's drive handily, while at the other strokes and in court strategy the Englishman was outclassed. Richards' appearance on the Wimbledon center court.

The second big match to be determined brought together French and Japanese internationalists. The result saw Rene La Costa, of the French Davis cup team, defeat Okamoto in four sets, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

The top was Francis T. Hunter, who reached the final of the tournament last year. He opened another member of the Park family, J. F. Park, and conquered him by a score of 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

Results of today's play: Vincent Richards, United States, defeated A. E. Pattison, England, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0. Francis T. Hunter, United States, defeated J. F. Park, England, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. Rene La Costa, France, defeated Okamoto, Japan, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Watson M. Washburn, American, defeated L. A. Godfrey, England, 7-4, 6-3, 7-5. Manuel Alonso, Spain, defeated J. C. Gray, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4. Fisher, Loses to Rydman.

The Australian veteran, Norman E. Brookes, defeated Carl H. Fisher of Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

Richards is favored to finish at the top of the heap of international tennis classic ends a fortnight hence. His greatest obstacle to victory is thought to be his own countrymen, Francis T. Hunter and R. Norris Williams.

The Wimbledon entry lists this year are more international in character than ever before, despite the fact that the tournament is largely carried the world championship in tennis. Among the big stars are the American, Francis T. Hunter and R. Norris Williams.

At Hockley at the end of the morning round, Aubrey Boomer of Saint Cloud, France, with a 74, had the lowest score. Cyril Tolley, amateur champion, had a 77 and Roger Wethered, holder of the amateur title last year, a 78.

On the morning's play found Armand Massy, the former French open champion, and E. C. Anderson of Seaside leading the field with 74. James Ockenden, who toured America recently with Arthur Havers, had an 80, and Douglas Grant, American resident of England, 81.

Gadd Equals Course Record.

This afternoon, George Gadd of Rockhampton, did a sensational round at Forbury in 79, equalling the course record, mostly through fine putting.

Abe Mitchell, British veteran, playing his iron shots badly at times, took 78. C. Wallis, England, whose cored Ti, and the veteran James Brail 77.

BARNES OFF HIS GAME

New York Professional Turns in Card of 81; Walter Hagen Takes 83 Strokes.

By the Associated Press. ST. LOUIS, June 22.—MacDonald Smith, the California professional with a card of 72 over the Forbury links, headed a list of invading American professionals in the open British championships in the opening day's qualifying round.

Gene Sarazen, American professional champion, also playing at Forbury, was next high man among the Americans with a 75. An 82 by Walter Hagen and an 83 by Jim Barnes, endangered their chances of getting into the championship.

Abe Espinosa of California, the remaining American visitor who started, had an 88.

Macdonald Smith's card follows: Out ..... 543 441 34-35-72. Havers Takes 72.

C. A. Whitcomb, winner of the British open at Sandwich in 1922, shot a 77 over the Forbury course. Gilbert Nichols, of Providence, R. I., playing straight scratch golf, was for almost every hole finished with a 79.

Arthur Havers, present British open champion, scored 72, but this was not good enough to top the list at Hoylake, for the veteran, J. H. Taylor, did the course in 70. E. R. Whitcomb, one of the persistent British performers, had a 73.

Barnes experienced a little bit of everything in the way of trouble. On the way out his iron play was so erratic that only his fine putting kept his card down to 40. On the way home he visited several bunkers and got a few tough lies. As a climax he missed holing a 3-foot putt on the home green. His card showed three sixes, 1 three and 1 four.

Out ..... 545 344 354-40. In ..... 544 254 545-51-81. George Duncan, who played the round with Barnes, shot the 13 holes in 74.

2 GROUPS AT CONVENTION CONSIDER FARM PROBLEMS

Meredith Vrooman Meeting Favors McKee Aims—Kenrick Heads Other.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The problems of agriculture were considered simultaneously today by two groups of Democratic delegates holding divergent views on the feasible methods of approach. Out of each gathering came specific suggestions for the national platform.

One meeting called jointly by E. T. Meredith of Iowa, formerly secretary of Agriculture, and Carl Vrooman of Illinois, his assistant in the Wilson Cabinet, appointed a committee of seven with Vrooman as chairman to draft the strong agricultural plank possible.

Another, in which Senator Kenrick of Wyoming was a guiding spirit, presented in the name of the Association for National Relief of Agriculture, a plan of nine clauses setting forth the views of the meeting. The 10 representatives of various elements of the agricultural industry, attended each meeting.

In the Meredith-Vrooman meeting, in which a majority of those present appeared to be sympathetic to the aims of the McKee forces, were Govs. Bryan of Nebraska, Hoot of Wyoming, Davis of Kansas, Sweet of Oklahoma, Senator Owen of Oklahoma and Representative of the American Farmers Bureau Federation and others.

Some of those in the meeting sponsored the agricultural association and Senator Kenrick were: Nathan Straus Jr. and Gordon Battle of New York; Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois; Representative Garrett of Tennessee; the Democratic floor leader, George H. Bowles, Lynchburg, Va.; C. S. Barrett of Union City, Ga., president of the American Farmers Union; J. W. Batcher of South Dakota and Representative Kinchloe of Kentucky, a Democratic member of the House Agriculture Committee.

ARKANSAS FOR ROBINSON, 'FIRST, LAST AND ALWAYS'

Democratic Leader of Senate to be Nominated by Ex-Gov. Brough.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the Senate, was placed in the field of presidential candidacy today by the Arkansas delegation, which resolved to support him "first, last and all the time."

Former Gov. Charles H. Brough, who will place Robinson in nomination, took charge of affairs and matters, announced that a steering committee, headed by Joseph M. Hill of Fort Smith, would actively manage the Robinson candidacy. A visiting committee, including Mrs. Florence of Hot Springs and Miss Alice Cordell of Eldorado, was appointed to call on the delegates.

"Senator Robinson is the only man who has been representative in Congress, Governor and Senator, for all in a period of one month," said Brough. "He is eminently fitted for the nomination and the confidence of those who enjoyed the confidence of Woodrow Wilson. We expect to see him nominated."

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Cabbage.
If the cabbage is new and young it requires less than a half hour's boiling, and less water is necessary than for old cabbages.

Cause It to Grow.
A little castor oil applied to the roots of the household plant that appears to be dying will frequently revive it and cause it to live.

Avoid the Accident.
If the burner is turned so high on the oil stove that you cannot turn it down again, throw a handful of salt on the flaming wick. It will put it out immediately.

A Mop Test.
When buying a new dry mop, shake it and see if strings show individually and do not mat together. A good quality mop will have strings that practically stand alone.

Removing Paint.
Frequently, when the house is being painted, unsightly spots are scattered on the front steps. Make a strong solution of potash and wash the steps, leaving the solution to sink in. When the paint becomes dry, wash it off with soap and water. Rinse finally with cold water.

Brain Fritters.
BLANCH a pair of brains in cold water for 10 minutes, then put them on in cold salted water to parboil. Let them boil 20 minutes. Blanch them in cold water when they are done, remove all the fiber and chop them coarsely. Make the usual fritter batter. Season the brains with pepper, salt and the juice of an onion, then beat them into the batter. Drop them by the spoonful into hot fat and fry them a delicate brown. Drain them and serve them with tartar sauce. Garnish them with sprays of fresh parsley and lemon quarters.

Mrs. Prickly Porky

The self-sufficient seldom cares
What others think of how they fare.

—Old Mother Nature

Mrs. Porky was very much like Prickly Porky himself.

JUST when Mrs. Prickly Porky arrived in the Green Forest and where she had come from no one seemed to know. She had been discovered there late in the fall, and she had remained all winter. The only one who knew anything about her was Prickly Porky, and what he knew he kept to himself. He was perfectly happy in having her there. No one ever saw them having much to do with each other or ever heard them say much to each other. But they were never found very far apart. Where one was the other was sure to be near.

Mrs. Porky was very like Prickly Porky himself. Her coat wasn't quite as dark as his, but hidden in it were just as many of those sharp-pointed little spears as Prickly Porky had in his coat. She was just as slow moving, just as independent and just as stupid appearing as Prickly Porky. Like him, she seemed to care for nothing but eating and sleeping. She didn't care to make friends, and the other people of the Green Forest soon gave up trying to make her acquaintance.

The winter was the happiest one Prickly Porky had ever spent. You know it takes very little to make some people happy. There was plenty to eat, no matter what the weather. A porcupine can always find plenty to eat, for, as you know, he lives on bark and tender twigs. There had always been plenty to eat in other winters. But this winter there was no loneliness for Prickly Porky. He had a mate, and just seeing about was enough to make his happiness complete.

So the winter passed, and spring came. By this time Mrs. Porky knew all the hollow logs and hollow trees and brush heaps in that part of the Green Forest where they lived. She began to take a great interest in these, an interest that Prickly Porky didn't share at all. In the winter when it was very cold, and when there were bad storms, Prickly Porky had been glad of a certain big hollow log in which to sleep in comfort. But with the coming of spring he had little use for his hollow log. He couldn't understand at all why Mrs. Porky was forever poking about and looking into these hollow logs and stumps.

But Prickly Porky is not one to concern himself about other people's affairs. And Mrs. Porky is not one to confide in any one, even her mate. So, though they saw each other every day, they paid little attention to one another. It was enough for each to know that the other was near. So it was that Prickly Porky didn't even notice that Mrs. Porky was spending less and less time in the trees, and often disappeared for considerable time. If he did not miss her he always thought that she was probably close by where he couldn't see her. You know his eyes are not of the best. It never entered his head to go look for her. This suited Mrs. Porky, for Mrs. Porky had a secret. Yes, sir, Mrs. Porky had a secret, and it had to do with a certain hollow tree.

IMPORTANT NOTES ON CANNING

In making preserves, marmalades, conserves, jams and fruit butters, a larger amount of sugar is used than in canning. The sugar is cooked into the fruit or condensed with the fruit-juice and acts as a natural preservative against yeasts and bacteria. These foods must still be protected from molds, and this is most satisfactorily accomplished by sealing in clean hot jars.

The following estimates may be used as a general guide in determining the amount of food required for canning fruit:

1 bu. peaches	25 qts.
1 bu. pears	30 qts.
1 bu. plums	28 qts.
1 bu. red raspberries	24 qts.
1 bu. cherries	20 qts.
1 bu. tomatoes	18 qts.

Cherries that are not desirable for canning may make good juice for use as a beverage or in pudding sauces and gelatin desserts.

From the Cornell Reading Course, Cornell University

PRECIOUS preserves spoiled! Vegetables you had depended on for the whole winter ruined!

Some rubbers blew out, others bulged, a dozen dried up and made the way easy for an army of bacteria to creep in and spoil all your work.

All because your jar rubbers did not do the two important things every jar rubber must do if it is to make a perfect, air-tight seal!

Stretch and "set" are the two things every jar rubber must do. First it must stretch just enough for you to slip it easily over the top of the jar. Too much stretch robs it of the ability to snap back into place—to "set"—the moment it is released.

It is this ability to first stretch and then "set," firmly gripping the neck of the jar, that prevents bulging and blowing out.

"U.S." Jar Rubbers already tested for stretch and "set"

The largest rubber organization in the world—the United States Rubber Company—makes "U.S." Jar Rubbers.

From their plantations in Sumatra comes the high grade rubber used in "U.S." Jar Rubbers. In their great laboratories where so many rubber problems have been solved, experts worked out the formula for these safer jar rubbers. Before they leave the factory "U.S." Jar Rubbers are subjected to rigid tests to determine their fitness to resist all the powerful forces which play upon them in actual use.

"U.S." Jar Rubbers come to you already tested for stretch and "set"—tested to give you a permanent seal—a seal which "stays put"! Ask for them.

New Program for Olympics Contests for Women.

Would Include Patience and Endurance Feats—System All Wrong.

Dear Editor:

THE eyes of the athletic world is centered this summer in la belle France where ladies and gents from all the countries that is left are participating in what is aptly termed the Olympic games. These games were begun pretty near 800 years B. C. for the purpose of developing and strengthening the Greeks and look at them now, those that ain't shining shoes is running restaurants in partnership with flies.

The first Olympic games was held at a place called Olympia and consisted of one event which was a foot race and the encyclopedia says it was won by an athlete named Coroebus in 776 B. C. but they's no way of telling if that was good time or not as the distance ain't stated. In later years they kept adding other events till they had a long run, a footrace for men in armor, a four horse chariot race and a contest for trumpeters and heralds, to say nothing about a combination boxing and wrestling match in which the contestants was allowed to tape their hands with andirons. It was understood that after a guy had won the all around championship he should live at public expense like one of our present day congressmen.

This all around championship was awarded to the party that got the most points in what they called the pentathlon from the Greek words pent meaning five and athlon meaning oof. The five events in the pentathlon or fiveoof was running, jumping, discus and javelin throwing and wrestling.

Javeline Hurting No Aig to Married Life.

Well finally people begun to realize that the most of the contests was not only silly but it was almost impossible to stage them, like for inst. the four horse chariot race, even if you did happen to have a chariot around the house where was you going to get a hold of four horses. All the heralds was newspapers and the trumpeters was charged with professionalism on act of holding positions with George Olsen or Paul Whiteman.

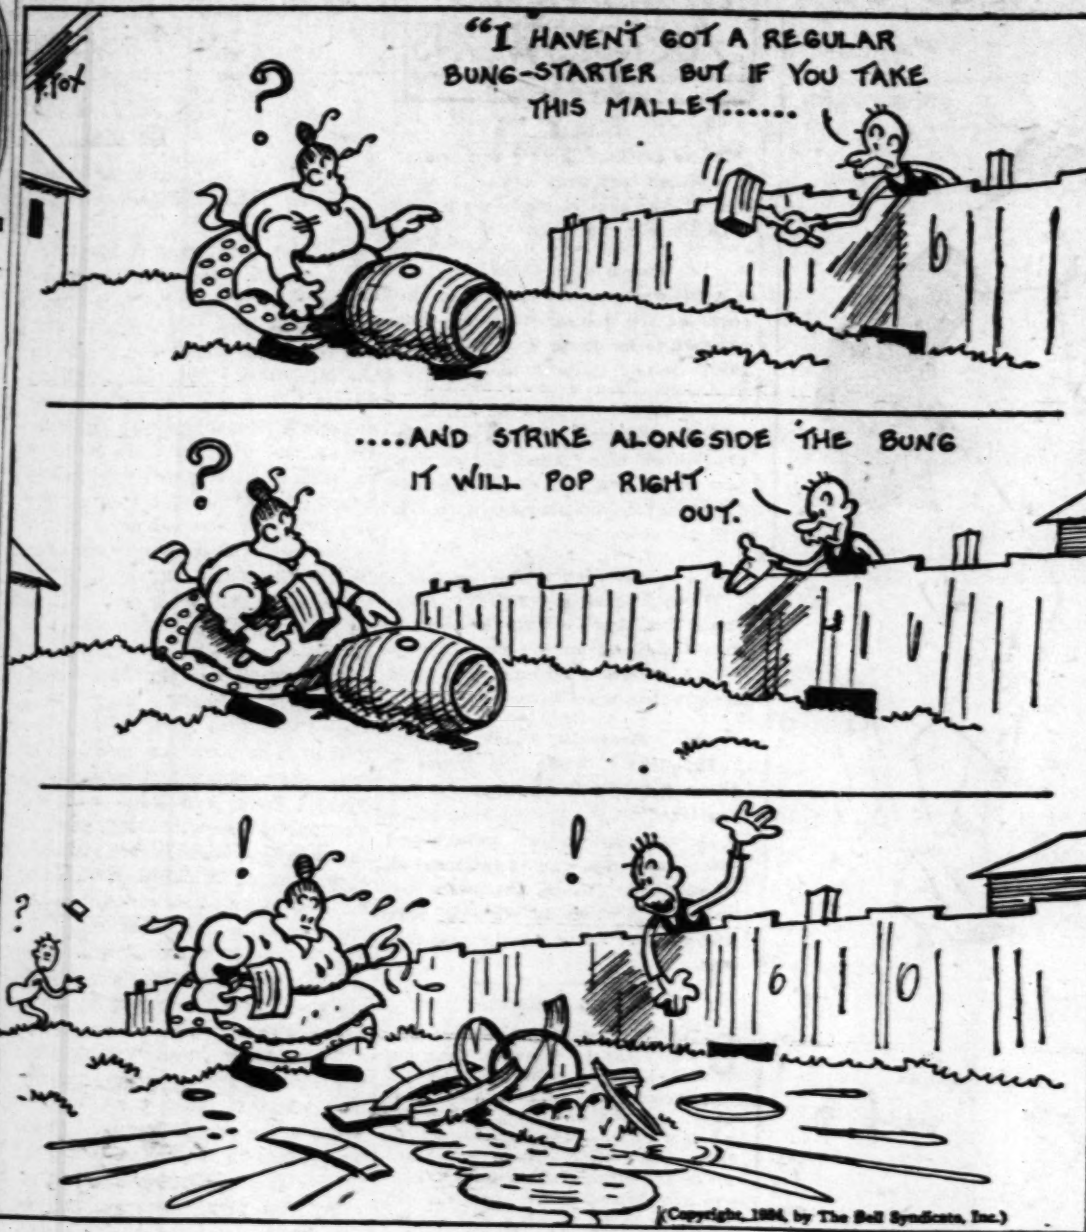

So one by one they weeded out what they considered obsolete and substituted contests which was considered up to date and are still clinging to same, which is the reason why I am writing this little article, namely to try and show that it is high time for another general reform. If the purpose of athletics and especially the Olympic games is to benefit the contestants and make them more valuable citizens and better boys and girls, add husbands and wives, then why not arrange a program of events that will tend to same instead of running off a serious of contests that don't get nobody nowhere or prove nothing except that the contestants has wasted a lot of time practicing?

For example suppose a man gets so as he throw a javelin 189 ft. 4 1/4 inches, will somebody kindly tell me how that is going to buy spare tires for his first baby's go cart? And did you ever hear of a gal's mother saying to her son, "Why, certainly you can have Kate. I know you will make her a good husband because you have did 67 ft. 11 1/2 inches in the running hop, step and jump." And in these days of the long distance telephone to say nothing of motorcycles, how many men is going to get a job as a Western Union messenger boy because they can run 26 miles in 3 hrs. 55 min. 20 sec. Even a man that can clear 6 ft. 6 in in the running high jump ain't going to be no use hanging pictures because he don't stay up there long enough to be sure he is getting them straight.

A Punctuality Contest. I will leave it to the Olympic committees to figure out decent substitutes for the silly events now

THE SAME, AND YET SO DIFFERENT.

SOME months ago this department carried the story of the politician who, in addressing an audience largely made up of Italians, undertook to win the favor of his hearers by referring to the great son of Italy, and so told them that his favorite song was which he had heard many a time at his mother's knee, to-wit: "Columbus, the Jim of the Ocean!" The little yarn presented today is a belated companion piece to that earlier offering. The scene was a schoolroom in New York. The teacher had invited suggestions for a song by the class. A boy in the back seat desired "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

His voice was so weak that there had to be a forwarding of the mate who delivered the message said:

"Teacher, he wants us to sing 'His Country, 'Tis of Him'."

MAUGHAN AND HIS PLANE FIT AFTER CROSS CONTINENT FLIGHT IN DAY

Third Attempt Took Army Airman From New York to California in 18 Hours Actual Flying Time.

FOUGHT WINDS, BUT MET NO ACCIDENT

Accorded Great Ovation by Thousands Gathered at Crissy Field to Acclaim His Adventure.

By the Associated Press. CRISSY FIELD, San Francisco, June 24.—Having spanned the continent in less than a day in an airplane, single-handed, Lieut. Russell L. Maughan, who yesterday breakfasted at Mitchell Field, N. Y., and ate supper here, today is resting at the home of Lieutenant-Colonel William E. Gillmore, none the worse for his performance.

His plane, a 575-horsepower single-seater, of a type now being tried out by the army air service, differing only in that adjustments were made enabling him to carry 30 gallons or more of gasoline, appeared to be in perfect mechanical condition.

Three Hours Out for Steps. Maughan's hazardous flight began at 2:59 1/2 a. m. (Eastern standard time), and halted briefly at five refueling stations. An en route across mountains and plains ended at 9:45:15 p. m. (Pacific time), when he arrived at Crissy Field, 21 hours 47 minutes and 45 seconds after having left the Atlantic seaboard.

This time included three hours and 25 minutes taken out at five stops making his actual flying time 19 hours, 19 minutes and 45 seconds. Owing to his speed and the direction of his flight, Maughan had three hours more of daylight than if he had remained in New York.

The nonstop flight of Lieutenants MacReady and Kelly, May 2 and 3, 1932, from New York to San Diego, Cal., 2520 miles was made in 24 hours and 36 minutes.

Averaged 150 Miles Per Hour. For the 2190 miles he traveled, Maughan averaged approximately 150 miles an hour. He said he made less than that above 3000 feet and more at or under that height. His greatest speed was attained on his fourth leg—North Platte, Neb., to Cheyenne, Wyo.—a distance of 225 miles, when he made 172.50 miles per hour.

From the time he soared away from Mitchell Field in the waning light of a half moon, undaunted by prospects of non-too-favorable weather, until he appeared out of the darkness above Crissy Field, Maughan encountered rough weather.

Reaching the goal, which in two previous attempts he had failed to attain, the army trail blazer said, "Yes, but it's good to be here," as cheering comrades lifted him from the cockpit of his plane, landing.

Thousands Cheer Him. Worn and nervous from his long and bitter struggle with the gulls of the air, and the illness which had gripped him, the courageous army flyer was engulfed in a cheering mass of humanity. He extended to him a most unparalleled ovation upon his arrival.

The ostentatious reception was in sharp contrast to the lonely single-handed battle which the aviator waged throughout the day in his race with the sun.

As the drums of his minor came to the ears of the waiting thousands, they broke into prolonged cheering. The flyer climbed the field twice, his plane blotting from view part of the time by a light mist. Then he shot downward and taxied almost to the door of army headquarters in a perfect landing.

The belt buckle of the world had been pulled up a few more notches. Maughan was borne away to army headquarters amid a delirious ovation. There he recounted briefly the story of his difficult voyage and received a shower of congratulations, including a message from Major-General Patrick, Chief of the Air Service.

He declared that he had become fit from nervous shock times during the previous week. He said he had eaten nothing since breakfast in New York.

Confiding American for Now. "I was mighty glad to see the lights of Crissy Field," he commented. "I lost them for a while but quickly picked them up again."

"I backed my headrest for the rest of the way and the rest of the way."
